OLD REGIME WAS HEAVY DRAG ON SLAV PROGRESS

New Russia Appreciates the Cordial Feeling Shown By Americans

FUTURE SOLIDARITY IS ASSURED BY ATTITUDE

Cause of Allies Will Be Strengthened By Russia's Political Change

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Petrograd, March 24, via London. —Warm appreciation of the cordial feeling shown by the people and government of the United States toward the new regime in Russia was expressed today by Foreign Secretary Milukoff in a statement to the Associated Press.

"The old regime was a heavy drag not only on Russia's relations with her allies but on all foreign relations," he said. "Thousands of telegrams of congratulations and good wishes are coming from the United States, not to speak of the formal recognition of the provisional government by the Washington government. This has served to show that it is only the old regime which has been standing for a long time in the way of entire solidarity between the United States and Russia."

Professor Milukoff emphasized particularly his satisfaction at the attitude of the American Ambassador, David Francis, towards the political change in Russia. He said that the extent to which the new Russian government had won the sympathies of the American public was indicated by a telegram he had received from Jacob H. Schiff of New York, who was long opposed to the Russian autocracy, wishing success for the new government in its task.

"There is no doubt," he continued, "that the addition of Russia to the ranks of the modern democratic countries will strengthen the adhesion of the United States to the cause of the allies. These countries may have confidence in Russia, especially as we now find all three countries allied for the same aims."

U. S. REFUSES TO EXTEND TREATY WITH GERMANY

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, March 24. — The United States has formally refused Germany's request to modernize and extend the Old Prussian-American treaties of 1799 and 1828. The state department has replied through Dr. Paul Ritter, Swiss minister here in charge of German interests, refusing to accept the protocol sent through him to this government on Feb. 10.

The reply states that the United States, considering the treaties in force in their original form, is entirely unwilling to accept Germany's interpretation of them as provided in the protocol which expanded the exemption from seizure of "merchants and their effects" in case of war between the two countries, into a general exemption, including enemy ships in port at the outbreak of war, which must either be left free or given safe conduct for their home ports, even through a hostile blockade.

More over, all enemy nationals would be free from interment and able to go about their business, without the slightest hindrance, during the whole course of the war and not in the restricted way mentioned in the original treaties.

The question left unanswered by the negotiations is the status of the million and a quarter German citizens in this country. While the United States has refused to agree to the blanket exemption sought in the German protocol it never the less, will follow the spirit of the old treaties and not interfere with Germans here who comply with the law.

The government will undoubtedly in case of war, cause Germans to register and possibly restrict their travel, without special permit, to certain limits. General internment is not being considered as yet as officials maintain that America's only object in the war would be to curb the German government and not to injure its citizens here. It is assumed on all sides that the great mass of Germans will respect their obligations as guests in this country, but it is known also that some few will make trouble which will react more to the disadvantage of the rest than otherwise.

The war department has already secured full details of the various principles and practices put into effect in other countries and is prepared to carry out any plan that may be ordered.

RELIEF WORKERS AND DIPLOMATS LEAVE BELGIUM

Whitlock and Americans Working Behind Lines Withdrawn

HOLLAND TO TAKE OVER WORK AMONG DESTITUTE

Action Has Been Inevitable Since Severance of Diplomatic Relations

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, March 24.—American relief workers in Belgium and American Minister—Brand Whitlock have been formally withdrawn from Belgium. Official announcement to this effect was made at the state department this morning.

Secretary Lansing at the direction of President Wilson sent a note to the Netherlands accepting its offer to take over the work of the commission.

The action of the President in ordering the Americans out was based on the belief that nothing was to be gained by keeping Americans longer in territory occupied by German troops in Belgium and Norhern France.

It is desired for humanitarian reasons that the work of the commission be continued and the government of The Netherlands has been asked to communicate with the commission's Rotterdam office to take over the work and determine how many Dutch citizens will be needed for it.

Arrangements for the return to the United States of many of the Americans now are being made by the state department.

Although removed from the active field, Americans in Rotterdam, headed by Herbert C Hoover will continue to direct the work.

The United States will henceforth be able to continue participation in the work only by financial contributions.

The withdrawal has been inevitable since the severance of diplomatic relations with Germany.

About 45 Americans in Belgium and Northern France are affected by the order.

The following announcement was given out by the state department:

"By direction of the President, the minister at Brussels has been instructed to withdraw from Belgium with foreign diplomatic and consular officers and take up his official residence at Havre, France.

"After consultation with the commission for relief in Belgium, Mr. Whitlock has also been instructed to arrange for the departure of the American members of the commission. This step, the seriousness of which is fully appreciated by the government, was taken only after careful consideration and full consultation with all the interests involved.

"When diplomatic relations with

AWAIT REPORT ON APPROPRIATIONS TO FINISH WORK

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Columbus, March 24.—With the announced intention of adjourning sine die late today or tonight, the legislature was marking time this afternoon while waiting for the report of the state finance committee on the biennial appropriation bill carrying approximately $43,000,000.

The measure was expected to be placed before the senate late today and the Republican minority threatened to make a fight upon it which may prolong the legislative session into next week. However, strong efforts were to be made to adjourn the session today.

The house went on record today against salary increases when it voted down a bill to increase salaries of members of the state industrial commission from $4,000 to $5,000 and also refused to consider a bill which had been passed by the senate granting county commissioners an increase in salary. The senate passed a bill granting increase in pay to township treasurers and clerks from $150 to $250 a year.

The Walsh bill authorizing county commissioners and sheriffs to purchase automobiles passed the senate today and goes to the governor for his approval. They are now allowed to rent machines but cannot buy them.

The senate finance committee was being implored today to restore the salary of J. C. Speaks as state game warden from $2,500 to $3,000. The finance committee had reduced the salary $500. The committee also cut $7,000 from the appropriation for Ohio university at Athens. A fight will be made to restore it.

The house passed the bill by Representative Pugh creating a court of domestic relations in Lucas county.

VON HINDENBERG LINE IN DANGER PARIS REPORTS

French Continue Strong Offensive From St. Quentin to Aisne

LA FERE PROBABLY WILL BE GIVEN UP VERY SOON

French Also Make Further Advance West of Loan On Aillette River

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, March 24.—Increased peril to the so-called Hindenburg line of the Germans in northern France, running through Cambrai, St. Quentin, La Fere and Laon, is indicated by today's Paris official statement.

The French are continuing their strong pressure from St Quentin to the Aisne and have driven through to the Oise river, directly north of La Fere, at some points. Apparently they have gained control of the high ground in this region and are able to command the city with their guns.

That the Germans were despairing of holding La Fere, a key point in the new line, was indicated by last night's announcement that they opened the sluice gates and flooded the city. The new French advance to the Oise can hardly fail to make the place still more difficult to hold.

Further progress also has been made by the French further to the southeast on the east bank of the Aillette river, west of Laon, where the Germans, while still falling back towards their new line, are apparently offering a stiff resistance. Paris military critics also point to a German peril here, where the left end of the German line at St. Gobain is threatened with outflanking.

Last reports from the British end of the line also indicated strong German resistance, but recorded also further advances for General Haig's forces, notably in the region southeast of Arras.

In part, at least, the German retirement in France may be explained by an official statement of the new Russian war ministry, in which it is announced that the Germans are concentrating great quantities of munitions, supplies and men on the north end of the Russian front. A Teutonic offensive in the near future in this important but long neglected war area is thus indicated.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg, who is credited with establishing the new line in the west, is classed as a believer in the theory that a decision in the war can best be gained by a campaign on the eastern front, against Russia.

Meanwhile the Russian provincial government continues its effort to strengthen the defensive measures of the nation.

One of the most important of the constituent parties of the new government, that of the constitutional democrats, led by Foreign Minister Milukoff, has just voted through its committee and its parliamentary representatives for a republican form of government for Russia.

CAN'T BOOST PRICES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Columbus, March 24.—Attorney General McGhee in an opinion to F. B. Pearson, superintendent of public instruction, today ruled that publishers of school books could not increase prices or change books until the expiration of the five year contract period which expires in 1920.

MANY REMEDIES ARE OFFERED TO VICTIM OF HICCOUGH ATTACK

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

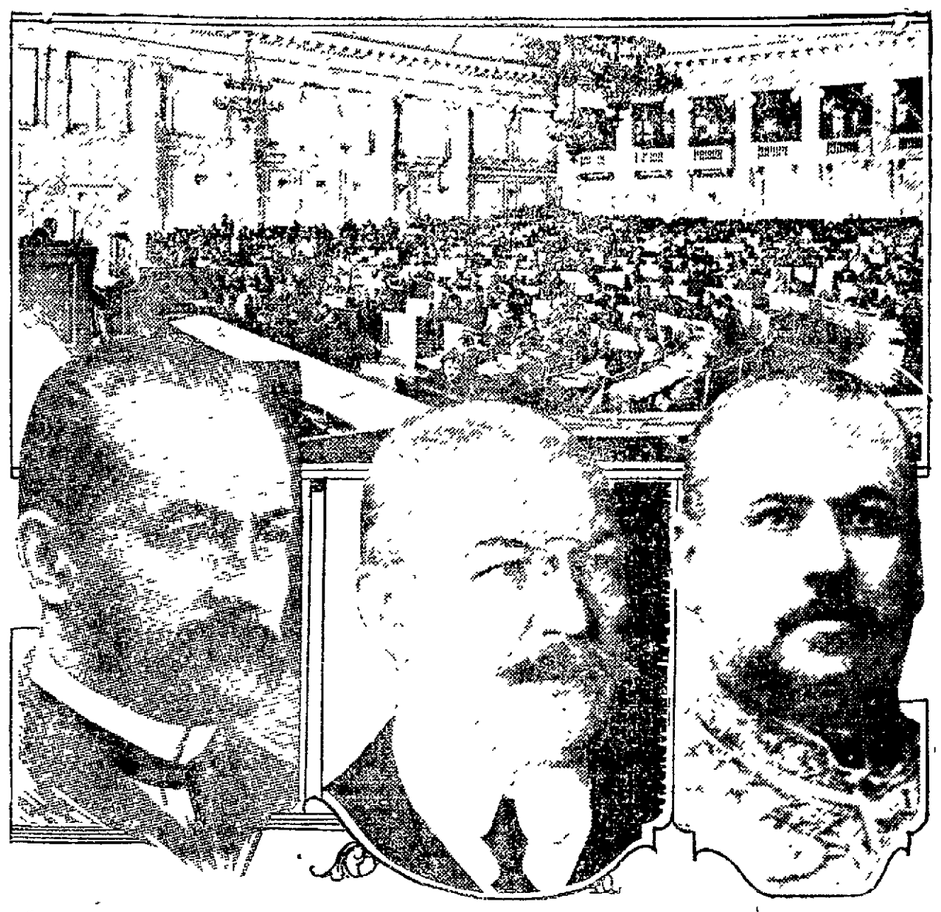

New York, March 24.—Three hundred and fifty remedies were suggested for the case of James F. McCabe, former chief clerk of the board of city magistrates, who nearly died of hiccoughs. Suggestions were mailed and telegraphed from all parts of the country. One man paid $2.50 for telegraph tolls on an elaborate description of a method by which Mr. McCabe was to be frightened out of his attack. McCabe's physician announced that he had been cured by repeated doses of a rare form of Chinese musk. This drug costs $5 a grain and it took $120 worth to do the work.

AMERICAN IS LOST ON NORWEGIAN BOAT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, March 24.—Sinking of the Norwegian steamer Ronald with one American on board was reported to the state department today by Ambassador Sharp at Paris. The American was George Goldroimer, a sailor of Portland, Ore.

Every vestige of the old Russian bureaucracy has been wiped away and Russia is now one of the most democratic of nations. The duma has been given great power and the three leading figures in the government are Prince Lvoff, new prime minister, M. Rodzianko, president of the duma, and Paul N. Milukoff, foreign minister.

GERMAN PEOPLE SOON WILL DEMAND PEACE AT ANY PRICE, SAYS TEUTON

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Paris, March 24—The abdication of the German emperor forecast by the former German magistrate who wrote the celebrated book "J 'Accuse" in an interview published in Oeuvre. He says:

"The Kaiser is obsessed by the thought that he is responsible for the war, a thought which poisons his whole existence. He feels that he is menaced by three enemies at home, without counting those abroad; first is the crown prince, the real author of the war, second, is the junker pan-Germanist—you cannot imagine the smouldering hatred of the emperor for those whom he believes to be the maniacs who are driving him into an abyss—third, are the people, not the socialist party but the people who are starving and who he feels are growing in number and rising little by little against those who organized the war.

"The people he fears most are the anti-militarists, anti-Prussians, Liberal republicans who want the reichstag to be based on universal suffrage. That is why Wilhelm is so anxious to convince the nation that he did not want war.

"It is hard to realize how this emperor, who enjoyed a popularity unexampled in our epoch suffers in his pride. He alone perhaps in Germany knows the whole truth since he alone has in his possession the elements for forming a judgment on the situation as a whole. How can he resist morally and physically under such a strain? Certainly he hopes sometimes, but less and less, for the success of the unrestricted submarine war? which he opposed. He sees the isolation of Germany become more and more complete.

"Once he tried to initiate peace negotiations and failed. To try again would be to admit and proclaim to the whole world, but above all to the German people, which he fears most, Germany's real situation.

If the allies solemnly declared, as they did with Napoleon in 1815, that they would refuse to treat for peace with the Hohenzollerns, it would be a dramatic abdication in order to retain the sympathies of the German people and save the political future of Prussia."

FINANCIAL AND MILITARY HELP FOR THE ENTENTE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, March 24—The United States government is getting ready to put into effect measures of the most far-reaching and aggressive character in the event of war with Germany. It will not be satisfied with mere attempts to protect American merchant vessels. Its preparations will be designed to meet any eventuality—a long war, if necessary—there will be no half way measures.

This program was agreed upon at a long cabinet meeting yesterday and it guided the council of national defense when it met today with its advisory commission.

The program decided upon includes military, naval, industrial and financial measures.

The question of sending an army abroad will be left for further consideration.

Whether political alliances with the entente also will be formed is not known, although military as well as naval co-operation is possible and the government will furnish both money and supplies to the allies without stint.

Suggestions before President Wilson today included the possibility of floating a loan of five billion dollars for the entente.

When President Wilson goes before congress, now set for April 2, he is expected to make clear that the government and people of the United States will not be prepared to lend only by acts of the German government. So far President has given only preliminary information as to his address to congress.

The object of today's meeting of the Council of National Defense with its commission was to take an inventory of what has been done in the way of industrial preparedness and to decide what further measures are necessary. The council is expected to take an important part in the conduct of actual warfare.

TWO CHILDREN POISONED.

Trenton, N. J., March 24.—Metal polish given in mistake for a tonic, caused the death of Malden Kail, 4 years old, and Emanuel Gaydos, 3 years, here yesterday. The mother of the Kail child, the police say, made the mistake.

SOLONS MAY NOT PASS EXPENSE BILL AT TODAY'S SESSION

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Columbus, March 24.—Unless the republican minority in the house will consent to a suspension of the rules on the passage of the administration appropriation bill the general assembly will not be able to adjourn today.

Republican Floor Leader Reighard late yesterday refused to consent to a suspension of the rules to pass the sundry appropriation bill. Reighard said he wanted to scrutinize the bills.

The state finance committee was expected to report the biennial appropriation bill carrying $44,000,000 for passage this morning. The committee cut down appropriations for the board of administration approximately $200,000.

The appropriation bills were the only measures of importance before the general assembly today.

AMERICANS ON MOWE?

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Copenhagen, Friday, March 23, via London, March 24.—The capture of the German raider Moewe by a German port having on board about 600 sailors, the crews of merchantmen captured during the last part of the cruise, may give rise to a new Yarrowdale case, as it is probable a number of Americans who were serving on armed merchantmen were captured by the raider. According to the German rule, such men would be treated as prisoners of war.

RAILROADS ASK TO INCREASE FREIGHT RATES FORTHWITH

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, March 24.—Efforts by all railroads of the country to obtain a general increase in freight rates probably of ten or fifteen per cent, were forecast today by a preliminary petition of the eastern roads to the interstate commerce commission. Western railroads notified the commission they would file a similar application soon, possibly later today, and southern roads are expected to follow. Unofficial belief was that the eastern carriers would ask fifteen per cent flat increase and other roads ten per cent.

The new rates would apply to all classes of freight except coal, coke and ore. The roads want the commission to take quick action on the ground that an emergency exists by reason of the recent rapid rise of expenses and the consequent threatened reduction of net operating income.

The petition in behalf of the carriers in official classification territory—north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi—was signed by the presidents of the Erie, Baltimore and Ohio, New Haven, Boston and Maine, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Lehigh, Western Maryland and New York, Chicago and St Louis.

NEGRO WINS CONTEST.

Columbus, March 24 — William Mason, negro, of Cincinnati, freshman in the arts college of Ohio State University, won first prize in an oratorical contest on themes dealing with prohibition last night.

HONORS MOWE CAPTAIN.

London, March 24.—A Central News dispatch from Amsterdam says it is reported from Berlin that Count von Dohna-Schlodien, commander of the Moewe has been appointed aide de camp to Emperor William.

31 DEAD BODIES ARE RECOVERED FROM WRECKAGE

Death List May Reach Fifty When Search Has Been Finished

MORE THAN A HUNDRED INJURED, TEN FATALLY

Tornado at New Albany, Indiana, Wrecks 300 Buildings and Uproots Trees

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New Albany, Ind., March 24.—Revised official lists of the victims of the storm which swept over New Albany late yesterday show the number of dead to be 31 and place the injured at approximately 100.

Of the injured ten or more are expected to die, while it is thought that a number of bodies still lie buried under the debris of wrecked buildings.

The search of the ruined structures in the devastated sections of the city is going forward under military supervision and all persons except those actually engaged in the work of rescue are being kept out of the stricken districts.

Approximately 300 residences, industrial plants and other buildings were badly damaged or destroyed. In some instances houses had been so torn to pieces and the wreckage intermingled with that from other structures that those who had lived in them were unable definitely to locate the site upon which they had stood.

Small outbuildings and sections of roofs were carried for blocks and trees were torn bodily from the earth by the roots.

The official list of dead as compiled by the Chamber of Commerce includes:

Two children from residence of Mrs. John Huff.
Edward Johns.
Mrs. Elizabeth Lomax.
Charles McCafferty.
Allen McLean.
George Zurchmidide.
Thomas Luku Umbreit.
Mrs. Ernest Canter.
Rose Huff, an infant daughter of John Huff.
Child 10 years old, believed to be daughter of Clarence Mathers.
John W. Davis, Glasgow, Ky.
Two unidentified women about 50 years old.
Ruth Parish, 4 years old.
Mrs. Ella Ehringer.
Martha Ehringer, infant.
Mrs. Mary Bott.
Mrs. Elsie Lopp.
Albert Peyton.
Mrs. Levi Bunch.
Clarence Moss.
Mrs. Louise Didelot and three children, Agnes, Louis and Albert.
Unidentified man.
Unidentified boy, 4 years old.
Three negro children.

State troops from Indianapolis arrived here at 2:30 o'clock to take charge of the situation.

Darkness hampered the search during the night, all the electric wires in the devastated sections of the city being down and the work of rescue proceeded slowly.

This morning the work of clearing away the wreckage of several buildings in which a number of persons are thought to have been caught had not been completed. One of these was a negro school. Several children in the building when the storm struck are thought to have escaped, the bodies of others have been recovered and possibly as many as twenty others are thought to be still buried under the ruins.

Every precaution was taken by the city authorities to prevent looting, and Mayor Robert W. Morris ordered that vandals be shot on sight. Policemen and firemen from Louisville, just across the river, and from Jeffersonville, only three miles away, together with officers from the Indiana State Reformatory, assisted in maintaining order.

The chaos which came in the

LIGHTNING STUNS WOMAN; HOUSE IS DAMAGED BY BOLT

Mrs. J. O. Wolcott, of 445 Park avenue, stood in her kitchen Friday evening as the lightning burned up the kitchenware and she escaped uninjured.

About 6:00 o'clock, while Mrs. Wolcott was preparing the evening meal, the storm broke, and suddenly with a flash of lightning, a tin pan which was on a shelf above the stove fell to the floor and was torn in parts. The lightning played over a cupboard where granite pans were kept, burning holes in each one of the vessels, and setting fire to the curtain which covered the front of the cupboard.

Mrs. Wolcott was stunned for a short time, but escaped any injury. It seemed that the bolt of lightning came down the chimney.

wake of the storm was quickly succeeded by organized efforts to assist those in need of help. A large relief fund was raised at a hurriedly gathered meeting of citizens at the city hall and committees appointed to undertake the work of relieving those whose homes had been destroyed. This fund was increased by a contribution from the board of trade of Louisville, and today further subscriptions were being added.

The injured soon overflowed the one public hospital of the city and others were taken to the Young Men's Christian Association, and to private homes. Every available physician in New Albany was called into service together with others from Louisville and Jeffersonville. Members of the staffs of Louisville hospitals were hurried to the scene and the facilities of the institutions themselves were offered.

Damage done by the wind extended several miles into the country, particularly along the Corydon pike. Many houses and barns were unroofed or demolished and several persons were injured. Along the Charleston road the damage was also heavy. An unidentified young man and woman driving toward New Albany were hurled over a fence into a nearby field and killed.

No accurate estimate of the property damage in and about the immediate vicinity of New Albany has been possible but it is expected the loss will be upwards of a million dollars.

West Union, a subdivision in the northeastern section of the city, bore the brunt of the storm. Here the wind swept a path more than a mile long, demolishing residences, several factories, and destroying a negro school building.

Twenty-five children were in the building. Some of them are thought to have escaped, but the total number of victims here will not be ascertained until the wreckage has been cleared away.

The injured taken to St. Edward's Hospital filled all available rooms and wards and overflowed into the halls. St. Edwards is the only public hospital in the city, and arrangements were being made to transfer many of the injured to Louisville institutions which had offered their facilities.

The storm struck the Corydon Pike about two miles from New Albany and moved southwest. Entering the city at State street near Haly, it swept through three blocks. At the intersection of State and Pearl streets it left the ground and then struck again at Vincennes street and the Charlestown road, nearly a mile away. At that point dwellings in three blocks were demolished.

In its progress along the Corydon pike the storm uprooted hundreds of trees and destroyed many small houses, many of whose occupants were injured, according to reports reaching New Albany.

Because of the difficulty in searching the ruins in the darkness, it is probable that the full list of dead and injured will not be known before tomorrow.

Baby Deering, about six months old, was found floating in a small stream, into which it had been borne by the wind. The child was alive and clinging to a dog, which apparently had been killed by the storm. The child died in the arms of its rescuer and the body was taken to an undertaking establishment. Later an aunt identified the baby and then reported that both the father and mother had been killed.

The streets in the path of the storm were a mass of wreckage and it was soon seen that outside assistance was needed to meet the situation. An appeal was made to the city authorities of Louisville, who sent a large number of policemen to the scene. In addition, every available officer from the Indiana State Reformatory at Jeffersonville and from the Jeffersonville police force were hurried to the stricken district.

Numbers of citizens from surrounding towns hastened to New Albany and offered such aid as they were able to render.

RED CROSS GIVES AID.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Indianapolis, Ind., March 24.—Officers of the Red Cross Society of Indianapolis, headed by J. J. O'Connor of Chicago, director of the central division of the Red Cross, who was recalled from New Castle where he was superintending relief work among victims of the tornado which swept that city less than two weeks ago, departed early today for New Albany to assist in relief work among victims of the storm which left death and destruction in its wake in the Ohio river town yesterday. Eighteen nurses accompanied the party, and more will follow today.

An offer of the aid of the Indianapolis Red Cross late yesterday was followed by an appeal for immediate help from an emergency committee formed at New Albany. The appeal recites briefly the devastation wrought by the tornado and emphasized the need of immediate assistance.

Indiana guardsmen, recently called out for similar duty at New Castle, were rushed to New Albany last night to aid relief work and to guard against looting.

MASSACHUSETTS TO CALL TROOPS TO GUARD STATE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Washington, March 24.—Governor McCall conferred with Secretary Baker of war department today and later made known that within a few days he will call out two regiments of the Massachusetts National Guard for duty in guarding bridges, reservoirs, arsenals and other public works in the state.

Governor McCall saw President Wilson yesterday and informed him of Massachusetts action in taking preliminary preparedness measures which includes an appropriation of $1,000,000 to place the national guard in readiness for quick service.

The two regiments will be used in guarding also the Fore River ship yards where a number of United States warships are being constructed, government arsenals, munitions plants and other such properties. Secretary Baker gave the war department's approval to the step. Equipment of the guard is expected to take two or three days.

Governor McCall also announced he would press for passage by the Massachusetts legislature of the "home guard bill," which would provide about 5,000 men.

ONE SURVIVOR IN BOAT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

London, March 24.—There was only one survivor out of 13 men in one of the American steamer Healdton's boats which was picked up by the trawler Ocean, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to Reuter's quoting the Handelsblad.

REFUNDS COST OF PICTURE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Columbus, March 24.—Senator B. E. Baker of Union county who was elected on a platform of economy, believes in living up to campaign promises he said today, he paid into the state treasury $1.65, the cost of printing his picture in a larger framed group of senators.

AERIAL PREPAREDNESS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Cleveland, March 24.—Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, chairman of the National Aerial Coast Patrol commission, will urge aerial preparedness in an address before the City club here this afternoon. Later the admiral will be tendered a reception by Cleveland Boy Scouts.

The Rubber Situation.

We as a people are almost absolutely dependent on Great Britain for our supply of crude rubber, as the great plantations are largely controlled by British capital. There are several possibilities for making us independent of any other country for our crude rubber supply. One is a plant called guayule which is even now being successfully raised in this country and which has been successfully raised in Mexico. There are several other rubber bearing plants also which might be raised in this country. But the largest field seems to be the Philippine Islands, where plantation rubber can be produced cheaply and well. Capital has held off, owing to the uncertain future of these islands, but local conditions there are ideal for a large rubber industry.—Andrew H. King in Metallurgical and Chemical Engineering.

Sore Throat.

The most frequent cause of distress or discomfort in the throat is exposure to cold and wet. Other conditions cause sore throat, such as exposure to infection. It may be of gouty or rheumatic origin. It may be excited by local irritants, such as hot drinks or the inhalation of noxious gases.

In mild cases of sore throat a gargle of a saturated solution of boric acid, used every four hours, will give relief. In severe cases the application to the neck of cloths wrung out of cold water proves grateful. Sucking small bits of ice affords much relief.

Internal treatment is needed. For this a seidlitz powder is very useful or a dose of salts upon rising in the morning. If, however, there is any fever or the tonsils are red and swollen or show tiny yellow or white spots on their surface, send as soon as possible for a physician.

Germany were broken off the normal procedure would have been to withdraw the minister at Brussels and the American members of the relief commission. Both this government and the commission, however, felt a heavy moral responsibility for the millions of innocent civilians behind the German lines and it was decided that the work of the commission must be kept going, despite all difficulties until continued American participation became impossible.

"For over two years it has been the single purpose of this government and the commission to see that these 10,000,000 of civilians were fed and with this end in view, the Americans concerned have submitted to restrictions forced on them by the German authorities, which, under ordinary conditions, would never have been tolerated.

"Immediately after the break in relations the German authorities in Brussels withdrew from Mr. Whitlock the diplomatic privileges and immunities which he had up to that time enjoyed. His courier service to The Hague was stopped, he was denied the privilege of communicating with the department of state in cipher and later even in plain language. The members of the relief commission were placed under great restrictions of movements and communications which hampered the efficient performance of their task. In spite of all these difficulties the government and the commission were determined to keep the work going till the last moment.

"Now, however, a more serious difficult has arisen. In the course of the past ten days several of the commission's ships have been attacked without warning by German submarines in flagrant violation of the solemn agreements of the German government. Protests addressed by this government to Berlin through the intermiary of the Spanish government have not been answered. The German government's disregard of its written undertakings caused grave concern as to the future of the relief work. In any event it is felt that the American staff of the commission cannot longer serve with advantage in Belgium. Although a verbal promise has been made that the mebbers of the commission would be permitted to leave if they desire the German government's observance of its other undertakings has not been such that the department would feel warranted in accepting responsibility for leaving these American citizens in German occupied territory.

"This government has approved the proposals of the Netherlands government to send into Belgium a certain number of Netherlands subjects to carry on the work thus far performed by the American staff."

TROPHY CUP FOR BOWSER IS PLAN OF NEWARK FANS

A movement instituted early this morning to present Paul Bowser a trophy cup in recognition of his record here in the last two seasons has gained considerable support and probably will be carried to a successful conclusion. The man who suggested the plan contributed $25 and another who heard of the suggestion added $10 to the fund. The matter has been placed in the hands of the newspaper men and further details will be given later.

YOKEL MADE RULE GOVERNING MATCH

Rules governing the conditions under which the wrestlers were to return to the mat when struggling for supremacy may have been the cause of Yokel's defeat last night. He was compelled to break the best hold he had on Bowser, just when he was beleived to be in position to win, because Bowser's hips were off the big pad. This provision was inserted in the rules governing the bout. Upon Yokel's last appearance here, he lost beacuse such a rule was not included in the understanding. He asked last night that if either wrestler's hips were off the mat that they be ordered back.

NEWARK SENDS OVER $200 TO THE BELGIANS

The last check for the Belgian Children's Relief was received by the central committee Friday, and the total contribution of $206 has been sent to the Belgian Children's Fund in care of the Literary Digest. The sum of $190 was realized from the sale of old magazines and papers collected.

RUSSIAN REVOLUTION BIG VICTORY FOR DEMOCRACY OVER AUTOCRACY

Bureaucrats Waited Too Long Before Attempting to Check Indignation of the People

More United Contest Against Germany and Government Similar to England's Predicted

THE long drawn out contest between the Russian democracy and autocracy has now ended dramatically in the complete triumph of the former. The citadel of reactionism on earth is no more. No greater triumph for the cause of civilization and freedom has been registered in history since the French revolution, writes Isaac Don Levine in the New York Tribune.

The incalculable consequences of this epochal event became apparent only from a review of the causes and forces responsible for it. The Russian revolution is entirely a product of the war. Had there been no war, had Russia not been allied with the great democracies of Europe, czarism would still be rampant today in the great Slavic empire.

For the forces that accomplished the change in the Russian government are not the usual revolutionaries of Russia. The industrial classes and the peasantry which rebelled in 1905 did not lead this time. There were no revolutionary propagandists, no agitators. No separate parties and factions existed in Russia on the eve of the revolt. The masses felt that something was in the air, but they were kept in ignorance of the coming coup

Prussia Hated by Russians.

And the leaders of the revolution are Russia's finest and ablest sons. The chiefs of the army, the duma, the imperial council, the great social organizations working for the prosecution of the war and many high court officials and relatives of the czar combined for the first time in Russian history against the small clique of Germanophiles controlling the Russian government. No revolution could have been successful without such a combination. And such a combination could never have been created without the issue of the present war, the struggle between democracy and autocracy.

The Russian bureaucracy made a fatal blunder when it entered the war on the side of France against Germany. The czar's advisers realized it only when it was too late. Their fate was sealed. The future of Russia's democracy was assured by Russia's participation in the struggle.

When the war broke out the Russian duma was a conservative body. Three months later the same duma was already progressive and even militant. How did this transformation come about? Only through the nature of the present war.

Corruption Is Revealed.

The Russian government was unable to meet the enormous demands made upon it by the struggle without the duma's co-operation. And when the conservative but honest duma approached the government closely for the purpose of co-operating in the prosecution of the war it discovered the indescribable corruption, ignorance, incompetence and disorder dominating the whole governmental plant.

The same thing happened in the army, the zemstvos and other public bodies that came in close contact with the government in connection with the business of the war. The appalling conditions prevailing in the official organism opened the eyes even of the most conservative and loyal citizens. Men who were the staunchest supporters of czarism turned in a short time into radicals. High army officers, honest but reactionary Tchinovniks patriotic members of the court, soon became revolutionaries at heart.

Disaster Was Expected.

But all these elements, the duma included, believed that revolution in Russia during the war would mean disaster to the allied cause. They therefore confined their activities toward the improvement of the government. But their success was practically nil, for it soon became apparent that the Russian government was a nest of treason, that the pro-German elements in the court were dominating Russia and that losing the war and not winning it was the chief object of the czar's advisers.

The minister of war, Sukhomlinoff, betrayed his country in return for German gold. This betrayal cost Russia hundreds of thousands of soldiers killed and captured and tens of thousands of miles of its choicest territory. But this betrayal did not provoke the Russian democracy to revolutionary outbursts, for this democracy did not desire to jeopardize the allies by weakening Russia internally.

When the government, however, began systematically to weaken Russia's rear the leaders of the army and the democracy realized that the government was working for defeat.

This state of affairs developed about a year ago. Boris Sturmer, a reactionary and pro-German, became Russia's premier. He got his high post thanks to the influence of Rasputin, the monk, who dominated the czar and the czarina. Rasputin was the center of a group of charlatans and German agents. To win Rasputin's favor was sufficient to make one a minister in Russia. As the monk believed in a separate peace between Russia and Germany, it is obvious why he supported Sturmer. A close collaborator of Rasputin, an international swindler and spy, Manasevitch Manuilov, became private secretary of the premier.

MICHAEL RODZIANKO, HEAD OF REVOLUTION AND NEW GOVERNMENT.

Since then a battle royal was waged in Russia, a battle on which the fate of civilization hinged. On one side were Rasputin, Sturmer, several court functionaries and some reactionary bureaucrats. These will go down in history as the "dark forces." On the other hand stood the army, the duma, the nobility, the entire nation.

Suffering Unites Country.

Never was Russia so united as in the last few months. The chaos created by the government caused the suffering of all. Policeman, tchinovnik, Cossack or workingman were alike affected by the lack of food. In this sense the food difficulties precipitated the revolution, for they intensified popular feeling against the government. They made the people think more than ever before. And this led to a realization on the part of the entire nation that the government was traitorous.

GRAND DUKE MICHAEL ALEXANDROVITCH, NEW REGENT.

This was the foundation upon which the success of the revolution rested. The Russian government had no support whatsoever in the ranks of the nation. It was wholly and purely the creation of a few intriguers.

Conditions became critical in Russia last November. The disorder in the food supplies strained the relations between the government and the democracy to the extreme. When the duma convened the nation waited breathlessly for the coming developments. The leader of the duma, Miliukoff, bitterly attacked Premier Sturmer. This attack led to the resignation of Sturmer.

Protopopoff Retained Place.

For a moment it seemed that the duma had triumphed. But Protopopoff, the minister of the interior, who was a protege of Rasputin and a friend of Sturmer, retained his post in spite of all protests. The newly appointed premier, Trepoff, was anxious to get rid of Protopopoff, but the latter's connection with Rasputin secured his position. The situation grew more and more acute every day.

Dark rumors of a separate peace spread from Russia. The army was aroused as never before. For the Russian army wants to vindicate its defeats in Poland. The Russian army and the Russian people firmly believe that had it not been for the government's treason Poland and Lithuania would never have been lost to the Teutons.

An attempt was made by some of the leading figures in the duma and in the army to reconstruct the government by the elimination of Rasputin. The monk was killed about ten weeks ago. It was hoped that that would lead to the overthrow of the hated Protopopoff, but instead it caused the downfall of Trepoff. And Protopopoff's power increased even more.

There can be no doubt that henceforth Russia will be ruled in the manner of Great Britain. The fact that Michael Rodzianko, the president of the duma, is the head of the executive committee responsible for the revolution means that Russia is to have a fully constitutional form of government, with a ministry responsible to the duma.

BEST LIVER AND BOWEL LAXATIVE FOR FAMILY USE

"Cascarets" regulate women, men and children without injury.

Take when bilious, headachy, for colds, bad breath, sour stomach.

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, castor oil or dangerous calomel, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation, or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give cross, sick, feverish or bilious children a whole Cascaret any time—they are harmless and safe for the little folks. (Adv.)

In the Court of Common Pleas of Licking County, Ohio, case No. 18515 Woodford Hall, a minor under fourteen years of age and Viola Hall, also a minor under fourteen years of age, and the person or persons having the care, custody and control of said minors, whose name or names are unknown, and all whom reside in the city of Falmouth in the County of Pendleton in the state of Kentucky, will take notice that on the 12th day of January, A. D., 1917, Benjamin Woodford, Elmer Woodford and Ida Hewey filed against them and others their certain petition, reciting therein that said minors are grandchildren of David Woodford, who died in February, 1908, and who was a brother of the whole blood of one Jane Shackleford; that the said Jane Shackleford, on the 17th day of February, 1916, departed this life at the City of Newark, in the county of Licking and State of Ohio, leaving a certain paper writing purporting to be her last will and testament, bearing date as of the 5th day of August, 1909, which was then presented for probate to the Probate Court of said county of Licking and was by it admitted to probate and is recorded in the Will Records of said county, Book No. 25, page 37, and further recites that the said Jane Shackleford, died possessed of considerable real estate and personal property in said City of Newark, aforesaid, and then averring that the said paper writing purporting to be the last will and testament of the said Jane Shackleford, deceased, in truth and in fact is not the last will and testament of the staid Jane Shackleford, deceased, for that said Jane Shackleford, at the date of said paper writing and for some time prior thereto, was NOT of sound and disposing mind and memory and did NOT have sufficient mental capacity to make a will. The prayer of said petition is:

"Wherefore, plaintiffs pray that an issue be made up and tried as to whether said paper writing purporting to be the last will and testament of the said Jane Shackleford, is the last will and testament of the said Jane Shackleford; that said pretended will be set aside and held for naught and that the same be found and declared NOT to be the last will testament of the said Jane Shackleford and for such other and further orders and relief as are proper and as are authorized by law."

Said above named minor defendants are required to answer or demur to said petition on or before the 1st day of May 1917, by the duly and legally appointed and qualified guardians of the persons and estates of said minors, and in default there of, application will be made to said court for the appointment of a guardian ad-litem for them as provided by law

HELPING FRANCE.

Every schoolboy knows the debt the United States owes to France. In the gloomy days of the American revolution France not only gave men but money to the American colonies. It may be true that some of the support was because of enmity towards England rather than love of George the Third's foe but nevertheless France gave freely and liberally and it should be remembered that the French people as proof of their friendship cancelled the interest for the period of war.

One can not help recalling France's great generosity in days gone by now that in the hours of her trouble she has been held up in order to obtain a hundred million dollar loan in this country.

The United States' debt to France is real and if ever there was a time when it should be paid it is now. The conduct of the French in the great war that now rages has excited the admiration of the world. France is fighting for life. She needs help and she should have it.

The New York World calls attention to the need which confronts France and declares that Congress ought to give France a billion dollars. The World says:

A gift of $1,000,000,000 to France would exactly equal the indemnity imposed by Prussia upon the French people in 1871, and the knowledge of such a gift would exert a greater moral influence in Germany than any army we could recruit or any other policy of resistance to German ruthlessness that we could adopt.

We cannot be effective in this war except as we aid the Allies, and the way to aid the Allies is first to put our vast financial and economic resources at their disposal. That would be the hardest blow that we could strike against German autocracy, and the most telling blow.

Giving $1,000,000,000 to France means giving $1,000,000,000 in American food. American munitions and American supplies for the French armies that are battling in the trenches to drive out the invader. Having given it, our next duty will be to employ all power of the navy to keep the sea lanes open and deliver the food, munitions and supplies to the French people, regardless of submarines and frightfulness.

PREPARATION.

New York and other cities on the Atlantic seaboard are ablaze with patriotic enthusiasm. Eastern states are appropriating vast sums for defense and for preparedness. Mass meetings are creating public interest in the situation that will soon arouse America from coast to coast. In the eastern cities the stars and stripes are flying from nearly every building. men are wearing miniature flags in the coat lapels. Crowds stand about the bulletin boards and the one topic of conversation is the war that threatens.

In Newark, in fact all over the state so far as we can observe, there is no such state of enthusiasm as exists down east. The people of the middle west are just as patriotic as those of any other section but it seems they have not as yet fully realized the fact that war is imminent. Newspaper bulletins in the windows of Newark newspaper offices telling of the destruction of American vessels and the consequent loss of American lives attract only passing notice. Why is it?

We have put this question to a number of men and the answer is that the public has not yet come to a full realization of what lies before us or that those who know that war is practically here feel that even when the formal declaration is made that it will be an indefinite sort of thing—that in the final analysis all it will mean will be that the American navy will have some work to do and that our only other participation will be to raise an army of defense and provide munitions and food to the allied forces in the field.

But there are dangers ahead and we should be awake to them. We ought to be ready to do our part whatever that may be. There has been some discussion of a public patriotic meeting to discuss the organization of local companies.

The people of this community should show their patriotism not only by a more general display of the American flag and the public declaration of allegiance but by offering service, if service shall be needed.

With President Wilson's eldest daughter reported engaged, how lonely the White House will seem without the boys sitting around on the porch evenings.

The United States could probably learn how to organize the resources of this country if it could seize the memoranda of the foreign plotters

WHAT CONGRESS SHOULD DO

(Columbus Dispatch.)

When congress meets April 2, in special session, at the call of the president, it should not content itself with a mere declaration that a state of war with Germany exists. There would be nothing inspiring or satisfying about that. * * *

What is needed is a statement of policy, similar to that already found in the naval appropriation bill, but going further—far enough to state the American interpretation of the great conflict that has been in progress in Europe for more than two years and a half. It should say that the real struggle is between autocracy and democracy, between the rule of irresponsible monarchs and the rule of the people; that the birth of a new freedom is at hand that it came in China with her 400,000,000, three years ago; that it came in Russia, with her 180,000,000 this month, and that it is coming elsewhere; that it is right that the people should rule themselves, and that the United States is unselfishly on the side of the right; that we stand for human rights as against the pretensions of dynasties, emperors and kings, some of whom are now slaughtering their own people and all others they can reach with their hellish implements of destruction and even plotting against this republic, in order that they may gratify their pride of place and power.

That is the truth. Why not set it forth for the inspiration of the American people and the encouragement of all peoples everywhere.

REAPING THE WHIRLWIND.

(Wall Street Journal.)

There is one highly significant item in the news from Petrograd. It is that the hopelessly venal Russian police, and especially the secret police, instead of suppressing the food riots had secretly stimulated them at German instigation. It is the irony of fate, the deadly humor of the gods, which has made the German mischief-makers set the match to the fuse which fired this frenzied magazine at their own door.

It is idle to suppose that the Russian revolution will not have enormous influence among the peoples of Europe not already under democratic government. Once more the German Intelligence Department, having the facts, has drawn the wrong inferences. Even now the Russian developments are creating an articulate public opinion in Germany which the autocrats who there lay destinies upon the granite table cannot suppress or ignore.

When the German Chancellor offered a more liberal Government "after the war," he was making not a promise, but a surrender. To call his sovereign to account for the Hohenzollern dynasty is to use the wrong noun. It may be more correctly designated the white flag, hoisted under pressure long the less real because its source is obscure. Events move rapidly in these times. The Hohenzollern Belshazzar sees well trembly, "The Mede is at his gate, the Persian on his throne."

SINEWS OF WAR

(Philadelphia Record.)

If the United States should accept the German challenge it would have common interests with the Entente Powers. It would not necessarily enter into an alliance with them, but its immediate purpose would be exactly the same as their. Our object would be the suppression of the submarine campaign; theirs, the eviction of German soldiers from countries where they have no right to be. We would co-operate with them.

We have a formidable navy. It is possibly the second, and more probably either the third or fourth in the world. Every effort is now making to enlarge it and increase its efficiency. It has never discredited the Stars and Stripes, and it never will.

We have an admirable nucleus of an army. We have nearly as many troops that might possibly be used outside of the country as England had three years ago. In June we reinforced it by 150,000 State troops and had them on the Mexican border in two or three weeks. In six months or less we could have an efficient volunteer army.

But we have enormous wealth, which is perhaps more important just now than anything else. We were a very rich nation three years ago. We have added greatly to our liquid capital by the enormous exports of the war period. We have already invested about $4,000,000,000 in foreign bonds and in our own bonds bought back from European holders. We have a vast amount that can yet be invested in the bonds of foreign Governments.

In the Revolutionary war France gave us three-fourths of a billion dollars. This was not a loan. It was a gift. It was never repaid, and without it we could not have attained our independence. It has been proposed during the war that we should loan France an equal sum; not as a gift but as a loan, to draw interest, and to be repaid. Nothing has come of this suggestion, but it would be a very small return to the nation that helped us in our dire need.

The proposal of the president of the Federal Reserve Board that our Government should issue a loan for a billion and a half, of which half a billion would be for our own immediate military needs and one billion to be loaned the entente Powers, is an entirely reasonable one. Our Government would take the bonds of the allies, which will pay interest, probably 5 per cent., and our Government can borrow at 3½ and the principal will be discharged. This would be of the greatest use to the Entente Powers.

Beyond the use of chasers to run down submarines, probably the most effective thing we coud do for the attainment of our ends would be the provision of a billion dollars for the nations that are trying to put German soldiers out of the countries where they have no right to be.

GROWING IN POPULARITY

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

The movement toward making eastern time the rule in Ohio, without the formality of legislative sanction, is making new and more rapid progress. The Lorain city council this week passed an eastern time ordinance which merely awaits the mayor's signature to become a law. A special committee of the Ashtabula council has the question under consideration. In Cincinnati an active movement is afoot to make the earlier time the city's legal time.

The more the question is studied and discussed, the more certain becomes the ultimate acceptance of eastern time over-the greater portion of Ohio. From all sections of the state come inquiries as to what Cleveland thinks of eastern time after several years experience with it, and how this city went about the task of setting its clocks ahead. The answer is always the same. Cleveland likes eastern time and would not for a moment consider abandonment; the change was accomplished without confusion or harmful effects.

Other Ohio cities are learning The situation is promising in every way.

General Sir Sam Hughes speaks fatuously when he says one American is worth six Germans. The Germans have fought as gallantly as any soldiers ever seen in the field. The six-to-one idea does not impress anyone nowadays.—Louisville Courier Journal.

Spirit of the Press

For Military Reasons.

The retirement of the German army from the Noyon salient is as satisfactory to Berlin as it is to London and Paris judging from official military comments" transmitted through Rotterdam. Nothing can be more wonderful, and at the same time more mystifying, than the reasons given for the retreat from one fortified line to another after the first has been held tenaciously as if it were of superlative strategic importance. The German object, so we are told, is to resume the fight "on the ground and at the moment chosen by us and in the most favorable circumstances." Mark Tapley never, under adverse conditions, rose to such heights of felicity. No doubt Sir Neville Chamberlain is right when he says that the German stand will cost the allies dear, but the world cannot be made to believe that they walked into a trap when they took Bapaume ridge.—New York Sun.

On Eve of Great Events.

The circumstances under which the new congress is to assemble should discourage every thought of politics in house and senate. No one yet knows who is to be speaker of the house, but the question of his identity is wholly insignificant in comparison with the big national question which will immediately engage the attention of both branches of congress.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Justified by History.

The United States Constitution remains as the greatest document ever penned by man and is practically the basis of all human self-government of a political kind. There have been some of our own people of late who have imagined that its principles are antiquated and its workings harmful. To such we wish to repeat that it has served to bring most of the world to its own terms, and that is justification.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

First Offense Penalties.

It used to be that federal law was firm in the treatment of offenders. To get in its clutches was regarded as a painful experience. But national law is now taking on the milder penalties of some state laws. It now proposes to place first offenders on probation, except certain serious criminals. The idea is that the first offense does not make a man a criminal.—Ohio State Journal.

Liberty Goes Marching On.

"God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform." With all its hideous horrors, war melts old fetters and gives new realms to freedom. Russian masses are marching to the heights of self-government. Fiery writings are in the heavens, and men and women read them with awe and wonder. Misgivings fill the hearts of the Kaiser and his chancellor, and they are quick to hold our expectations of a greater measure of popular participation in government. Even in democratic France long surviving caste is crumbling, and Britain calls its war leaders from the masses and whips its incompetent aristocrats to the rear. As it is in our hour, so has it been in all the great hours of the past.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

"War and the Child."

The American sentimentalist is wont to speak of a son even a grown up son, as if he were the exclusive possession of his mother, as if he spent his life in a peramulator, to be wheeled about at her volition. Mr. Bryan warned the National Education Association last July, that we should not "rob the cradle" at the behest of militarism. An agitated correspondent of the Survey, troubled by the sending of the National Guard to our frontier, asked what influence should be brought to bear—not upon Mexico, and not upon Washington.—but upon "the mothers who thoughtlessly throw their sons away?" One would suppose that the National Guard wore knickerbrockers, and had been withdrawn from the innocent pastimes of infancy. Vittens would be granted as much sense of personal obligation as are the young men who stand responsible to the state for the performance of their civic duties, whose manhind compels citizenship, and whose citizenship compels unswerving loyalty to the constitution."—From Agness Rippear's "War and the Child" in the March Atlantic.

His Pockets.

From a time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary wives have asserted their right to go through their husbands' pockets. Now that is upheld by a judicial decision. One highly important principle, asserted by the wife in this case in her original complaint remains in doubt. The court did not touch the question of the husband's obligation to hand over his pay envelope unopened. But if the miserable wretch objects to this form of uplift, if he wantonly tears open the envelope as soon as he gets it and extracts therefrom the sum which he judges suitable for his personal expenditure, is his wife justified in searching his pockets during his hours of slumber? The learned judge says that she is. — Philadelphia Ledger.

Limerick Contest.

The limerick prize this week is awarded to Miss Edith Smith, 235 North Tenth street, but we have no hesitancy in saying that Harold Chaney, Willie Gettit, E. P. H. and a number of others belong in the prize winning class. Because of space limitation today only part of the limericks submitted this week are published:

When asked how many fish he had caught
He whispered, "Don't tell F. S. Scought,
I have plenty, you bet,
But I used a set net,
If he knew, on my trail he'd be, hot.
—Edith Smith.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He said: "10, if you annex a naught,
But to tell you the truth
That's not 'fishy,' forsooth!
I believe even that one I bought!"
—Harold S. Chaney.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He said, with a grin, "Quite a lought,"
When his catch I examine
I find sardines and salmon
Which proves that the bunch he had bought.
—Willie Gettit.

When asked how many fish he had caught
His answer with sadness was fraught;
Tho' I fished sir all day
Not a "bite" came my way.
So a few at the market I bought.
—E. P. H.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He answered that they could not be taught
To get on his hook,
At any nice brook,
So fish at the market he bought.
—H. M.

When asked how many fish he had caught
His answer was one I shouldn't have sought.
For his breath smelled of booze,
As he tried to excuse
That for each fish a drink he had bought.
—Helen M.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He said about three hundred he thought;
But then we all know
That he is an old blow,
And no one even gives him a thought.
—Frances Meredith, Jacksontown.

When asked how many fish he had caught
Well so many I fear they will naught;
Please don't think me like you
Come home with a few—
You had sneaked down the river and bought.
—U. N. Lucky.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He showed them the twelve he had brought.
His little son then came in,
And said: "This man wants his 'tin'
For the twelve fish that you bought."
—Anon.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He fibbed like he hadn't ought.
But no harm was done
For the old son-of-a-gun
Had a "rep" that counted for naught.
—G. M. C., Granville.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He pulled his chin whiskers and thought.
Then he said, "Count them and see.
You will find fifty-three.
But I am not saying how many I bought."
—G. R. L.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He was annoyed with turbulent thought;
So he answered: "You guess.
And if right, I'll confess.
For I'm pleased with the feat I have wrought.
—Delaware

When asked how many fish he had caught
He said I have not caught what I ought.
I have only four
And that caused war,
And the fish were taken by a draught.
—Ada A. Farmelee.

When asked how many fish he had caught
Wells wanted to go fishing he thought.
He fished in the lake
And caught a big snake,
To go fishing on Sunday to know better you ought.
—Mrs. W. E. R.

When asked how many fish he had caught
Wells said: "These that I have I bought;
I wanted to catch twenty
Then I would have plenty.
The surest way to get them was to buy them I thought.
—I-Ne-Da Dollar.

When asked how many fish he had caught
Answered he: "'Tis a shark that I've brought,
When I felt my line pull
I hauled it in full.
And see what a big one I've got.
—Hazel Elliott.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He said enough to fill a two gallon pot.
If you use the right bait
You will not have to wait,
And you will land one quicker than thought.
—Would Be Poet.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He said, fishing with many dangers is fraught,
I went out in a boat,
But only lost my coat,
So a few fish with a silver hook I bought.
—Mrs. O. P. S.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He said, after a little thought,
Just one—my dear,
Since I've been here,
So I guess our supper will have to be bought.
—Fannie Schick.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He was ashamed to say "naught,"
So he told a fib,
And he certainly did,
When he replied: "That it wasn't fish he sought."
—B. O. B.

When asked how many fish he had caught
With his pride, and his conscience, he fought.
But he gave the lie,
As he did reply.—
"One that weighed a ton was all I got."
—Peggotty, Johnstown.

When asked how many fish he had caught
Just then he pulled out a big trout.
He said with a smile,
He thought it worth while,
To fish until night and be out.
—I. C. B., Hebron.

When asked how many fish he had caught
The truth he did not tell by a long shot,
A fine string he displayed,
For which a nice price he had paid.
How he got them his good wife never thought.
—Hardup.

When asked how many fish he had caught
In ecstasy a rare story he wrought;
How like starved they bit,
And how like fiends they fit.
Of course his story with fiction was fraught.
—Isadore Mudd.

When asked how many fish he had caught
He did not say his quest was for naught;
But very proudly displayed—
The "catch" already weighed;
For, every last one of them he had bought.
—Mrs. N. W.

When asked how many fish he had caught
To falsify he well knew he ought not;
For a good Christian was he.
Who, in prayer, bent his knee.
So he 'fessed up, the fish he had bought,
—Matilda Toots, Hanover.

When asked how many fish he had caught
And did they bite very good or not;
"To bait your hook," said he,
"You must hide behind a tree.
And I caught a car-load, believe me or not."
—Mrs. S. R. Larason.

Milady's Boudoir

Putting Tresses in Good Condition.

There is a dozen seasons of the year when the hair begins to fall out in the most incomprehensible way. Combfulls of one's cherished tresses leave the head at every doing up of the hair in the morning, and the love locks about the forehead and temples that should fluff out becomingly under the hat brim, have a distressing way of falling in limp wisps an hour or two after being carefully waved.

Even the most luxurient head of hair will begin to show signs of deterioration by the middle of March, the evidence being lack of lustre and "spring" in the tresses, the accumulation of oil and dandruff, according to the tendency towards one or the other naturally possessed by the scalp, and the combing out of the hair when combed or brushed.

The woman who values her crown of glory will do well, therefore, to give her hair special attention at this season and it is surprising how readily the average head responds to a little judicious treatment. Massage of the scalp is the first requisite when the hair falls out and the use of a good tonic will help wonderfully. Have a thorough professional massage once a week every night massage the scalp lightly with the finger tips applying a little of the tonic your hair dresser recommends.

Once in two weeks have the ends of the hair singed until you have had three treatments. Singeing is better than clipping. After one singeing and a week of massage and tonic treatment the hair should stop falling out and should begin to look not healthy and alive—that is, more springy in its growth like the hair of children and young people. After a fortnight small hairs will grow, sprouting around the forehead and in the partiped.

It seems to be quite an accomplishment to do nothing, and do it gracefully.

Our Boys and Girls

Children and babies should be allowed to roll and tumble about on the floor as much as they will. The sun bath is too little appreciated as an aid to your child's beauty and health. The room should be warm and a sheet or quilt spread on the floor in the sunlight and kept away from draughts, and the child allowed to roll about on the floor.

If he should fall asleep allow him to have his nap lying flat on the floor, do not provide him with a pillow for his head. Lying flat on the floor permits better circulation and keeps the spine and shoulders erect. As soon as old enough teach the child to stand erect, hands at sides, and then to bend forward and down from the hips several times. This will strengthen the spine.

Every Day Etiquette

"Is an answer to a wedding announcement necessary?" If so what is the proper reply " inquired John.

"No answer is expected to an announcement of a wedding. A note of good wishes however, is perfectly proper if they are particular friends of yours, said his sister.

"Through a friend I was invited to an evening reception. Should I call upon the hostess who entertained me," asked Edith.

"Yes, you should call within a fortnight after the date of the entertainment," advised her aunt.

French Figs.

The fig tree in southern France is now cultivated almost exclusively for the production of the fresh fruit, which has always a ready sale in the large centers. The drying of figs has been practically abandoned in this region, except for the personal requirements of a small number of growers. Moreover, the country's production is not equal to the domestic demand.

Obituary

Mrs. Mary Wymolo.

Mrs. Mary Wymolo, wife of Wallington Wymolo, a native of Austria-Hungary, died at the home of Mrs. Bela Paszty, 283 Summer street, at 2:45 o'clock this morning, death being due to a complication of ailments. She was 38 years of age and resided with her husband and children on the George Orr farm near Gratiot, having been brought to the Paszty home yesterday for treatment. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mary, aged 13, and Elizabeth, 11 years. She also has four brothers in the old country, three of whom are serving in the army. The funeral will take place Monday afternoon from the Paszty home, Rev. Geo. Bohon Schmitt officiating. Interment in Cedar Hill cemetery.

The Sick

Mrs. Arthur Huff was removed in Bazler's ambulance from her home in Gay street to the City Hospital.

A Mr. Frye was removed from 27 South Pine street to the City Hospital yesterday by Bazler's ambulance, where he will undergo an operation for appendicitis.

DEMAND FOR SEED IS GREATEST EVER EXPERIENCED HERE

There is a great demand for seeds over the city and dealers report that they will dispose of fully three times as much as last year. One dealer stated today that he had already placed an order for double the seed he handled last year. There is a great demand for every variety and this indicates that people will engage extensively in gardening this year, caused principally by the high cost of everything marketable. Scholars of the local schools are taking a great interest in gardening and have arranged for plats of ground over all sections of the city. The price of seeds have advanced slightly while the price of onion sets have nearly doubled, being quoted at two quarts for thirty-five cents.

Fixing the Carpet Sweeper.

The revolving brush of the ordinary carpet sweeper is driven by the friction of the wheels on which the sweeper runs against driving wheels on either end of the brush axle. To insure good friction the peripheries of all of these wheels are covered with tightly fitting rubber rings. In time these rings wear out, or the rubber becomes hardened and loses its grip. An efficient method of repairing a sweeper having imperfect or worn rubber rings is to cover the wheels with common electricians' tape, such as is employed for covering joints in wire. The tape should first be wound around the periphery of the wheel until a covering nearly equal to the thickness of the original ring is attained. This should then be secured in place by passing the tape around the ring and between the spokes of the wheels. The gripping power of the tape is fully equal to that of the original rubber rings, and the sweeper will be good for service until other parts wear out.

Granville

[Special to The Advocate]

Granville, March 24.—In the debate between Miami and Denison last night in Recital hall, a great deal of ability was shown on both sides. The question as stated was: "Resolved, That the literacy test act incorporated in the Burnett bill, as finally passed by congress in 1917, is a wise provision." The Denison team speaking at Granville, Wilson, Ward and Baker, with Cressey as alternate, maintained the affirmative and emerged from the combat with flying colors. The judges, Rev. Herbert Scott of Zanesville, L. T. Cromley, Mt. Vernon and Judge L. B. Houck of Mt. Vernon cast their ballots 2 to 1 in favor of the Denison debaters.

The Denison Glee club gave a successful concert in Mt. Gilead Friday evening. Indeed the club has made so excellent a showing in the towns recently visited that the president has received many letters from those who were enthusiastic in its support. The home concert is booked for April 13, the week following the return from the vacation trip through Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Southern Ohio. Look out for the notices.

Dr. C. W. Chamberlain, president of Denison University, and Dr. H. K. Hundley, principal of Doane Academy, represented the university at the annual meeting of the North Central Association of Schools and Colleges, held in St. Louis March 23. Dr. Chamberlain will also represent Denison at a meeting of the Summer Military Camps Association at St. Louis on March 24, probably going from there to Dayton to attend the funeral of E. A. Deeds' son, Junior.

Dr. C. J. Loveless read a paper before the Licking County Medical society in Newark Thursday evening on "Differential Diagnosis."

William Allen, who lived for many years during his youth in South Main street, Granville, died Friday morning at his home in Baltimore, O. The body will be brought to Granville for interment in Maple Grove cemetery, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

St. Luke's church, the fifth Sunday in Lent, morning prayer and sermon at 10 a. m. Dr. Joseph A. Leighton, professor of philosophy at Ohio State University will preach.

Miss Margaret Judson, English teacher of Vassar college, former dean of Shepardson college, with her sister, Miss Eliabeth Judson, of New Haven, are guests of Miss Peckam, Stone Hall.

First Baptist church, Sunday, March 25, Rev. Millard Brelsford, the pastor, will preach for the morning service on, "Christian Duty in a World Crisis"; at 7 p. m., on "The Call of Abraham."

Presbyterian church, at 7 p. m., the "Presbyterian Men" will have entire charge. Attorney Williams of Columbus will speak on: "The Trial of Christ Before Pilate, from the Lawyer's Standpoint."

Methodist church, Rev. Otto Gieson, the pastor, will preach at 10 a. m. on "A Lesson in Humility"; at 7 on "Love Never Faileth," with illustration.

Ned Putnam, one of the cleverest seniors, and one who has been active in many and various college activities, has his picture in the Denisonian this week marking him as one of the "Who's Who at Denison." Summing up: aside from his dramatic achievements, Ned has been a live wire in the class of 1917, of which he was president and assistant choir leader in his junior year. He served on the 1916 Adytum board and has been on the Denisonian staff for three years. He belongs to Franklin Literary society and is a member of Sigma Chi.

The Denison Masquers are preparing the first two of their one-act plays "Rosalind" by J. M. Barrie, and "The Rising of the Moon," Lady Gregory, which will be presented next Tesuday evening in Recital Hall at 8 o'clock.

The date of the Pittsburgh-Denison annual luncheon has been changed to April 1, in order to include the students at home for the spring vacation. It is to be given in the Fort Pitt hotel, and both President C. W. Chamberlain and former President D. B. Puriton of Morgantown, W. Va., are to be guests of honor. Dr. Chamberlain will show lantern slide views of the pruposed plans for Greater Denison.

Close Relations With Monk Rasputin, Said to Be in German Pay, Warranted Belief That Sympathies Were With Land of Birth—Censor Has Read Her Mail.

For more than a year the empress of Russia, because of her relationship with the house of Hohenzollern, has been suspected in entente circles of German intrigue in Petrograd. Last August when it was reported in Europe that Russia and Germany had discussed separate peace terms the empress was suspected as the ringleader.

In September, according to reports in Paris which reached New York, Russian and French secret service agents from Paris went to Petrograd to investigate the reported association of the empress with German plots. The reports which these men are believed to have placed before the czar caused him to order the empress to be kept in a chateau near Petrograd.

Had German Sympathies.

The czarina, Alexandra Feodorovna, before marriage was Princess Alix of Hesse and a granddaughter of Queen Victoria. Her close relations with the monk Rasputin, who was said to be in German pay, warrant the suspicions that her sympathies were with the land of her birth.

As to the causes of the monk's unquestionable and incomprehensible influence in court circles, the most contradictory reports have been and are current in Petrograd. One thing is certain—that Rasputin had succeeded in obtaining a most extraordinary ascendancy over the empress. One explanation current is that he had cleverly taken advantage of certain coincidences and of the superstitious nature of the czarina.

Rasputin had succeeded, it is declared, in convincing the empress that as long as he was at court and could intercede for the young czarevitch in his prayers the boy's life would be safe.

What had convinced the mother was the following incident: One day the boy was standing beneath a heavy picture on the wall when Rasputin called to him. The czarevitch had only taken a few steps toward Rasputin when the picture fell to the ground just where the boy had been standing. The czarina witnessed the scene and interpreted Rasputin's intervention as a proof of his mysterious power.

Child's Secret Injury.

Great secrecy was thrown around a sensational incident a few years ago involving an injury sustained by the little fellow in consequence of an accident that befell him while in the custody of a high official of the empire. It has been repeatedly prophesied he could never live to see maturity. One of these gloomy prophets was Count Paul Vassilli, who wrote:

"The child, who has been very delicate since his birth, suffers from an organic disease of the arteries, which are liable to rupture upon the slightest provocation and even without cause. Already three years ago he had to undergo an operation, which was performed by Professor Federoff, one of the doctors who treated him in the autumn of 1912.

"From morning to night the czarevitch is told that his existence is so precious to his parents that no caprice of his is to be allowed to pass without being at once gratified. Arrogant by nature, this arrogance is fostered instead of being corrected. He tyrannizes over his servants, and whenever any one attempts to correct him he immediately threatens the unfortunate person with all kinds of punishments."

Since the reported discovery of the association of the empress with the German separate peace plans she has been living in the chateau, where all her mail has been censored and where she has been permitted to receive only those guests who were under watch by Russian government agents.

What Ohio Club Women Are Doing

Mrs. Prentice E. Rood, Director of Press.

Hamilton Convention Splendid Success.

The last but by no means least of the district meetings was held at Hamilton, March 16 and 17.

Dr. Jane Scherzer, vice president of the southwest district, assisted by the chairman of the local committee Mrs. Charles J. Parrish, presided.

The convention opened with a reception at the Hamilton club in honor of the visiting state officers, who were entertained at dinner at the club provided by their hostesses.

Dr. Mark Millikin gave the address of welcome.

Mrs. Charles J. Parrish welcomed the visiting women in the name of the hostess clubs, the Current Events club, the Teachers' club and the Woman's club; the response being given by Dr. Scherzer.

Mrs. George Zimmerman, the state president, in her greetings to the assembled club women pointed out the many benefits derived by the clubs in their affiliation with the large organization.

Reports were given by Mrs. C. R. Fox, chairman of the department of civics of the Club Federation; Mrs. Frank Miller of Dayton, chairman of education; Mrs. Charles D. Cussins of Columbus, chairman of industrial and social conditions; Miss Helen Kendrick of Cincinnati, a member of the literature committee and Mrs. Prentice E. Rood, chairman of publicity.

Luncheon was served in the dinningroom of the Temple. Mrs. J. B. Foraker of Cincinnati, supplemented by a few remarks by Mrs. Zimmerman made a strong appeal to the patriotism of the clubwomen. Dr. Scherzer presented the causes of absent chairmen, urging especially the prompt payment of the loan scholarship fund.

The address of the afternoon entitled "The Right to Think" by Miss Florence E. Allen, an attorney of Cleveland, held the audience by its fine logic and illuminative concreteness.

The music of the convention was under the direction of Mr. R. H. Burke and was received with great enthusiasm.

Altruistic Work.

Reports of the majority of the clubs as presented at all the meetings of the different districts of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs show that almost without exception the self-cultural club is doing some kind of altruistic work. This may consist only in contributing to the work of the state committees.

The Policewoman.

It has been said that every city large enough to need a policeman, needs a policewoman. Clubwomen of Ohio in many localities are acting as official chaperones of public dance halls. The public dance affords an opportunity for harmless recreation, and patrons of the municipal and other public places of this class of amusement should welcome the presence of these women. If their chaperonage is objected to by the patron, that person is not fit to attend a dance. If the proprietor resents the presence of a chaperone, he should be put out of business.

Clean-Up Season Is Here.

Mrs. C. H. Fox, 2849 May street, Cincinnati, is the enthusiastic chairman of civics. She is ready to give advice to send bulletins or to tell you where you can secure them.

No Hardship.

She—"You had no business to kiss me."

He—"It wasn't business. It was pleasure."—Syracuse Orange Peel.

To Save and Have Beautiful Hair

The best thing to use is kreamol, a liquid which you can get at almost any drug store.

A small amount, only one or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly.

Simply moisten the hair with water, rub in a little of kreamol, massage well and then rinse in clean water. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and removes the dust, dirt and dandruff.

Do not use cheap soap or cheaply prepared shampoos if you want to keep your scalp clean and the hair soft and beautiful.

You will find kreamol very inexpensive as a four ounce bottle will be sufficient to last every one in the family many weeks.—Adv.

Kreamol is Sold at Evans' Drug Store (Warden Hotel Block), Newark, Ohio, and Ullman's Drug Store, Granville, Ohio.

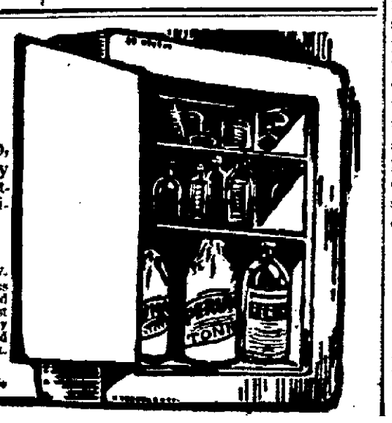

PHILADELPHIA GIRL IS FIRST WOMAN TO ENLIST IN UNITED STATES NAVY

Miss Loretta Walsh.

Miss Loretta Walsh, eighteen-year-old Philadelphia girl, enjoys the distinction of being the first woman to enlist in the United States navy. She was sworn in a few days ago and immediately began enrolling men in the coast reserves. She is a stenographer, a member of the Navy league and a niece of Dr. James J. Walsh, dean of Fordham University, New York.

YOU Suffer from Constipation

which is another word for congestion, the beginning of every serious disorder and nearly every discomfort. Rid yourself of constipation and you will be free from all disease—as nearly as possible proof against infection.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS

act freely, but gently and comfortably, on the liver, stomach and bowels, cleansing, sweetening, toning, strengthening, so that a constipated condition will become impossible. Ordinary constipation "cures" are only laxatives that must be taken regularly, and that finally form a habit that is as dangerous as constipation itself. Schenck's Mandrake Pills are wholly vegetable; absolutely harmless, they form no habit.

MAY DECIDE WAR

Food Situation Acute In All Struggling Nations.

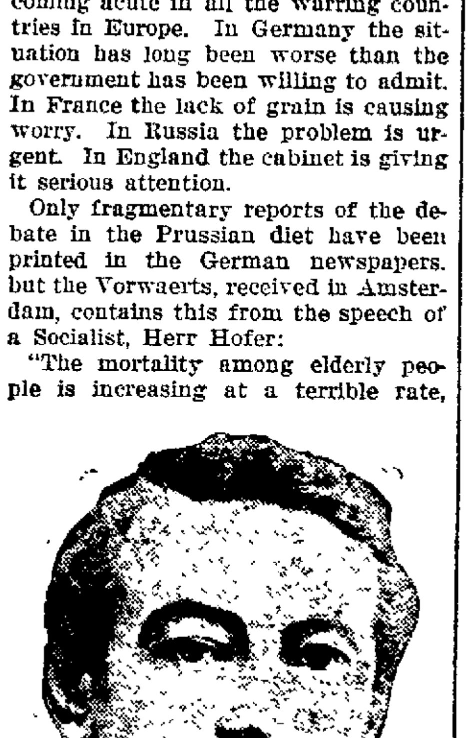

MORTALITY IS INCREASING.

Reported That Epidemics Are Spreading In Germany Owing to Decreased Resistance of People—Russian Government Calls For Special Conference to Deal With Problem In Petrograd.

London.—The food shortage is becoming acute in all the warring countries in Europe. In Germany the situation has long been worse than the government has been willing to admit. In France the lack of grain is causing worry. In Russia the problem is urgent. In England the cabinet is giving it serious attention.

Only fragmentary reports of the debate in the Prussian diet have been printed in the German newspapers. but the Vorwaerts, received in Amsterdam, contains this from the speech of a Socialist, Herr Hofer:

"The mortality among elderly people is increasing at a terrible rate,

PREMIER BRIAND.

while epidemics are spreading everywhere owing to decreased power of resistance."

The Russian government has called a special conference to deal immediately with the food problem in Petrograd.

By arrangement with the minister of agriculture and the food controller in England the ministry of munitions is taking control of all fats, oils and oilseed and their products, including oil cake, soap and margarine.

France must economize or replace with other cereals from 34 to 38 per cent of its requirements of wheat, according to estimates made by Chairman Boret of the agricultural committee of the chamber of deputies.

The requirements of the allies of France and neutrals are from 560,000,000 to 570,000,000 bushels. The surplus available from overseas countries is from 360,000,000 to 370,000,000 bushels, leaving a deficit for the entente allies and neutrals of from 190,000.000 to 210,000,000 bushels.

Premier Briand said:

"The government is confident it has done everything possible to cope with the extremely difficult situation, but some problems must be considered before others, and, as the principal one concerned, I can tell you that our army is abundantly provided for and that it can face the enemy with full confidence."

INDIAN FINDS MINERAL.

His Dream of Becoming Rich Like White Man May Be Realized.

Reno, Nev.—Visions of wealth were held in the mind of Jack Samuels, an Indian, who came in from the Pyramid reservation recently with half a dozen samples of mineralized rock that he found in ledges out on the reservation. Jack showed them to Indian Agent C. H. Ashbury, who had his clerk, W. C. Van Emon, conduct him to the Mackay School of Mines at the university to have them assayed.

Some of the samples look very good, and it is not impossible that they may be the forerunner of important discoveries. Jack explains that the ledges are big, and if the ore runs all right he has a chance to get rich like the white man.

For many years there have been traditions of fabulously rich float found on the reservation, but even the most diligent prospecting has failed to disclose the ledges from which it came.

AMPUTATED ARM REPLACED.

Surgeon Performs Remarkable Operation on British Soldier.

London.—The Daily Chronicle reports a remarkable surgical operation performed on the son-in-law of James O'Grady, M. P.

He was severely wounded at the front some months ago, and it was found necessary to amputate one of his arms. The surgeon carried out the daring experiment of removing the injured part of bone, then attaching the arm again and sewing it together.

The operation was so successful that the patient can use his arm again. He is able to lift a cup of tea slowly to his mouth. The only thing noticeable is that the injured arm is slightly shorter than the other.

It costs nothing to think, so long as you don't think out loud.

Wall Street.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

New York, March 24.—Yesterday's sweeping movement in railway shares assumed wider proportions today, dealings in representative issues of that group as well as the shares of minor roads dominating the short session. Coalers were prominent features at gains of one to two points for Reading, Norfolk and Western, Lehigh Valley and Erie. Similar advances were recorded by St. Paul, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Illinois Central, Chicago and Northwestern, Southern Railway preferred, Missouri Pacific preferred and Wabash A. preferred. Coppers were extremely active with United States Steel, Baldwin Locomotives. Wilson Packing, Malting preferred and Virginia Iron were included among the other strong stocks. Shippings and motors were irregular. Realizing sales reduced most gains at the end. The closing was strong. Sales were estimated at 550,000 shares. Bonds were firm.

Rails were the conspicuous features of today's active opening, yesterday's advances in the division being substantially supplemented. Among the strongest issues were Chicago and Northwestern, Norfolk and Western, Southern Railway preferred, Erie and Lehigh Valley, all at gains of a point or better, with fractional advances in St. Paul, Northern Pacific and New Haven. Union Pacific and Reading were heavy, however, losing 2½ points and 1 point respectively. Shippings kept pace with the stronger rails but prominent industrials, including U. S. Steel, were irregular.

Chicago Grain.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Chicago, March 24.—Prospects of increased co-operation of the United States in supplying foodstuffs to the entente nations tended today to lift wheat prices. Initial quotations, which ranged from ⅛c to 1⅛c up with May at 1.90⅞ to 1.91¾ and July at 1.61½ to 1.61¾, were followed by moderate reaction and then a decided general advance.

The close was unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish at 2⅜c higher with May at 1.90¾ to 1.91 and July at 1.63 to 1.63⅞.

Corn rose chiefly in response to dispatches indicating a likelihood that Argentina would declare an embargo on grain exports. After opening unchanged to ⅜c higher, the market scored a sharp up turn all around. The close was firm at ¾c to 1½c net advance.

Oats ascended with corn and wheat. Higher quotations on hogs and corn strengthened provisions. Lard touched the highest level yet this season

Y. M. C. A. Notes

The finance committee met at the building for supper on Thursday evening and went over the receipts and expenditures for the past year and planned a budget for the new year. On account of the great increase in membership during the past year it has become necessary for the finance committee to provide means for extending the locker room facilities. The committee is considering recommending to the board the equipping of the room in the basement under the front of the lobby for a business men's private exercise room. The board members are trying to devise plans to finance this project, which will mean between $300 and $400 more than originally planned. This will release other sections of the building for the rapidly growing boys work.

Orders for pictures of the gym classes are now being taken at the desk.

Last Saturday evening the Junior basketball team added another victory to its record by defeating Hebron by a score of 51 to 22. There is only one more game scheduled.

A junior baseball team will soon be organized and it looks as if this team will be another winner.

On Tuesday evening, eight of the players in the business men's volley ball class played a picked team from Granville on Denison's gym floor. The Y team won two out of the three games played.

There are only five more events in the intermediate B gym contest. At present Kuster's team is leading with 700 per cent; Green's team is close second with 600 per cent; Hunter third with 500 per cent., and Doyle fourth with 200 per cent.

The annual gym members' banquet will be held on Tuesday evening, April 3, in the First Presbyterian church dining room. Atty. J. A. Flory, senior member of the gym classes, will be the presiding officer, and E. W. Roehm, physical director of the Columbus Y. M. C. A., will be the principal speaker. Many awards will be given for good work done by different members of the classes. Members under 14 years of age will be admitted only on condition that they bring their father with them The price of the supper is 25c. Tickets may be secured at the Y. M C. A. any time up to Saturday evening, March 31.

The lunch counter will close Saturday, March 31 This will be the last chance the members have to get butterscotch pie.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

The membership of the Young Women's Christian Association enjoyed a rare privilege on Thursday evening of this week in the musical given by Mrs. Harry D. Hays, Mrs C. F. Lytle and Miss Tnna Riegger. With such talent, so generously given, it goes without saying that the program was one of artistic merit. It was an occasion of great enjoyment to the more than 75 music lovers present.

The Ohio and West Virginia field committee of the national board of the Y. W. C A announces a leaders' conference to be held at Cincinnati, March 27-29, with the Hotel Sinton as headquarters. The program has for its key-note, "Christian Leadership" and will be both inspirational and technical, emphasizing improved methods, enlarged program activities, and the need of increased efficiency. National headquarters secretaries will be present and address the conference on different phases of administration. The Newark Association will be represented at this conference by Mrs. Frank L. Johnson, president, Miss Helen E. Tucker, office secretary, and Mrs. Dr. J. A. Mitchell. Mrs. John Tucker and Mrs .Fred Evans, board members. This is a splendid representation from Newark.

The Scofield Bible class will hold its last meeting of the year tonight. The class is closing up the year's work to give all of their time to the coming evangelistic meetings.

Miss Kitty Burgess of Columbus is now a resident at the association building, having taken a position at the fashion.

Mrs. Stickle, mother of one of the girls in the Y-CWX residence, is improving after a serious operation at the Newark Sanitarium, last Friday.

An Aerial Bridge Over Niagara Falls

Crossing the Whirlpool rapids on the aerial bridge gives sightseers a wonderful view of the rapids and gorge. So great is the noise from the falls, talking is almost impossible aboard the aero car which is run on cable lines 1,800 feet in length and driven by a seventy-five horsepower motor. The cables are 150 feet above the Whirlpool, and the car accommodates thirty-six passengers.

Lodges

I. O. O. F.

Olive Branch.

At the last session of Olive Branch Lodge, 34, there was a good attendance. The usual amount of business was disposed of. Every brother is expected to be present next meeting night. Important business.

Mt. Olive Encampment.

On Thursday evening will be held an extra session of Mt. Olive. The Golden Rule degree will be conferred and important business discussed. The lodge is preparing for a big royal purple night in the near future with a lunch on the side to give strength for the long journey.

Newark Lodge.

Last Monday evening Newark lodge conferred the third degree on seven candidates! The meeting was well attended. Next Monday evening the lodge will confer the initiatory degree on several candidates.

Canton Olive.

All Chevaliers will report in fatigue Wednesday evening for drill. The department council time will soon roll around and the degree team must be perfect. Every one is working to make this state meeting a great success. The lodge has the co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce and the citizens of the city at large therefore there is no reason why this should not be the best camp and session in the history of this department.

K. OF P.

Roland Lodge.

Roland lodge convened at 7 o'clock last Tuesday night and hurried through with the business in short order. This included action on six new petitions and the election of three others. At 8 o'clock the floor was turned over to the Knight rank team of Newark Lodge, No. 13, which conferred this degree on one of their own candidates. This was the first time in the history of the two lodges an event of the kind occurred and a very large crowd was present, including visitors from a number of surrounding towns. Judges were present from Mt. Vernon. Cambridge and Pataskala and nothing was overlooked. This was all brought about by the competitive Knight rank contest inaugurated by the present grand chancellor, G. L. Behrens. It is bound to increase the interest in correct ritualistic work and the proper delivery of the same. Roland lodge will confer the same rank on April 12 during the meeting of Newark Lodge. Only four teams in this district entered the contest. Coshocton Lodge, which was to give their rendition of the work next Wednesday night, has postponed the event until April 13.

PYTHIAN SISTERS.

Alberta Temple, 355 Pythian Sisters met Wednesday evening with a fine attendance. Eight applications were balloted on and eight more received for membership. Sick members are nearly all able to be out. Mr Loughman gave a report of the entertainment of the 14th and was congratulated for the success of the event.

Let Resinol Make Your Sick Skin Well

That itching, burning skin can almost certainly be healed! The first use of resinol ointment seldom fails to give instant relief. With the help of resinol soap, this soothing, healing ointment usually clears away all trace of eczema, ringworm, rash or similar tormenting, sleep-preventing skin-diseases quickly and at little cost. Physicians have prescribed resinol ointment regularly for over twenty years, so you need not hesitate to use it freely. Sold by all druggists.

Is Your Toilet Soap Injuring Your Skin?

Many toilet soaps contain harsh, injurious alkali. Resinol soap contains absolutely no free alkali, and to it is added the resinol medication. This gives it soothing, healing properties which clear the complexion, comfort tender skins and keep the hair healthy.

Pretty as a Picture—Every sign of Wrinkles and Complexion Blemishes gone

How a muddy, sallow, aging skin can be made wonderfully youthful and beautiful through remarkable discovery of osmosis of the skin.

Grace Valentine
Beautiful Metro Picture Star

When you see a woman past thirty with no horrid crowsfeet or pouches around her eyes, no enlarged nose pores, no deep lines or furrows about the mouth, and possessed of a clear, velvety complexion, you can be practically certain that she knows beauty secrets not possessed by the average woman She may have as much cause for looking old and careworn as anybody, yet she is able to go on year after year, with never a sign of wrinkles or complexion blemishes, all the while preserving a fresh, youthful appearance. And there is really no reason why any woman between thirty and sixty should not look from five to fifteen years younger than she really is, by simply knowing the secret of just what to do. It ought to be a matter of pride with you to keep your complexion clear and your face youthful as much as it is to keep your hands and nails clean. But you cannot hope to be beautiful and attractive unless you give your skin full opportunity to act freely and renew its youth. No matter what your age: no matter how coarse, harsh and unsightly your complexion, nor what you have tried unsuccessfully, the moment you produce osmosis of the skin, you will look younger and far more beautiful. Many a wrinkled, hollow-cheeked, faded-looking woman has regained her charm and awakened to find herself pretty as a picture with every sign of wrinkles and complexion blemishes gone through this wonderful, simple method Watch what it does for you!

No need for ugly nose pores and deep wrinkles.

Merely wash your face in warm water at night and rub in a teaspoonful or two of any good roseated cream which you can obtain from the druggist In the morning wash the face with cold water, and rub in more cream. In three weeks or less you will be astonished at the change that has taken place. See how the old, hardened, coarse, rough skin turns into new fresh, soft, youthful-looking skin almost before your very eyes, all due to simple osmosis of the skin, produced solely by warm water and roseated cream But be sure to use only pure roseated cream, as it is an entirely different thing from ordinary face creams, and must not be confounded with them Most women prefer Creme Tokalon Roseated. If you have wrinkles, get a box of Japanese Ice Pencils and use them in connection with the cream and you can get quick action on the deepest wrinkles, no matter of how long standing. For giving an indescribably beautiful effect to the neck and arms as well as suppressing almost immediately the appearance of all smaller wrinkles and marks of age, many women use a little sanitone in connection with this method of producing skin osmosis.

The above is one of a series of articles on beauty specially written by Mlle. Simone Marcix, of Paris, winner of two great international beauty prizes, one in Paris, the other in England. Mlle. Marcix personally guarantees success in every case with the products recommended in her newspaper articles or will refund the amount paid for them, provided you take your dealer's receipt at the time you make your purchase. Her American address is Simone Marcix, 20 West 22nd St., New York. Creame Tokalon Roseated and the other products mentioned can be obtained absolutely fresh and guaranteed pure from T. J. Evans, C. T. Bricker and R. F. Collins, or most any good druggist or department store in this city.

AMUSEMENTS

AUDITORIUM.
Tonight.

Charlie Chaplin and June Caprice are the two stars who will vie for stellar honors at the Auditorium today. Charlie Chaplin will be seen in the Mutual special, "The Floorwalker," said to be one of the best two-reel comedies of the day, just chuck full of laughs from the start of the first reel until the end of the second.

Miss Caprice, a noted Fox film star is seen in a most beautiful screen drama of Tennessee mountain life called "A Child of The Wild." This is a most beautiful story appealing to the young as well as the old and in the cast besides Miss Caprice will be seen Frank Morgan, Tom Brooke, Richard R. Neil, Tom Cameron, Florence Crawford, Leet Steuart and others.

Sunday's Program.

Tomorrow Manager Fenberg has arranged a program that is said to be one of the most expensive of the season. The big feature of course being the appearance of William Hart, famous screen artist in the Triangle feature, "Truthful Tulliver," a riproaring story of the great West a generation ago.

In this new play Hart has the role of an itinerant printer who settles down in Glory Hole, a western mining town, with the brave intention of starting a weekly newspaper and making it pay. The significant thing about this editor is not his "nose for news," for news makes itself directly under his office window, but the fact that he is prepared to back up his published sentiments with a pair of six shooters.

One of the scenes shown in this remarkable feature is Hart going through a window on a horse, dragging two men after him at the end of a lariat. Besides this feature a two reel Keystone comedy, "The Winning Punch," and a singer in Miss Florence Darley, prima donna of "The September Morning Glories" company, who appears at the Auditorium Monday. Miss Darley is said to be a most wonderful soprano and will sing several latest song hits. She carries her own musical director, who will assist her during the rendition of her program.

"September Morning Glories."

Commencing with the matinee Monday, and for the evening performance, L. M. Weingarte, (Inc.,) presents his everlasting "September Morning Glories." In this delightful, snappy, frisky, tuneful fantasy, there is said to be not one second of rest between laughs, it is claimed, that Bert Bertrand the quiet, yet forceful Hebrew comedian, is gaining a still firmer grasp on his many admirers and those who believe in "clean, snappy, everlastingly something doing" kind of musical comedy. Few in this serious work-a-day world care to go to the theatre to study some obtruse problem or have their hearts bowed down by the forelorn fate of some unlucky heroine; but the actuating desire of the theatrical devotees is to laugh, and laugh they will at the antics of Bert Bertrand as they have never laughed before.

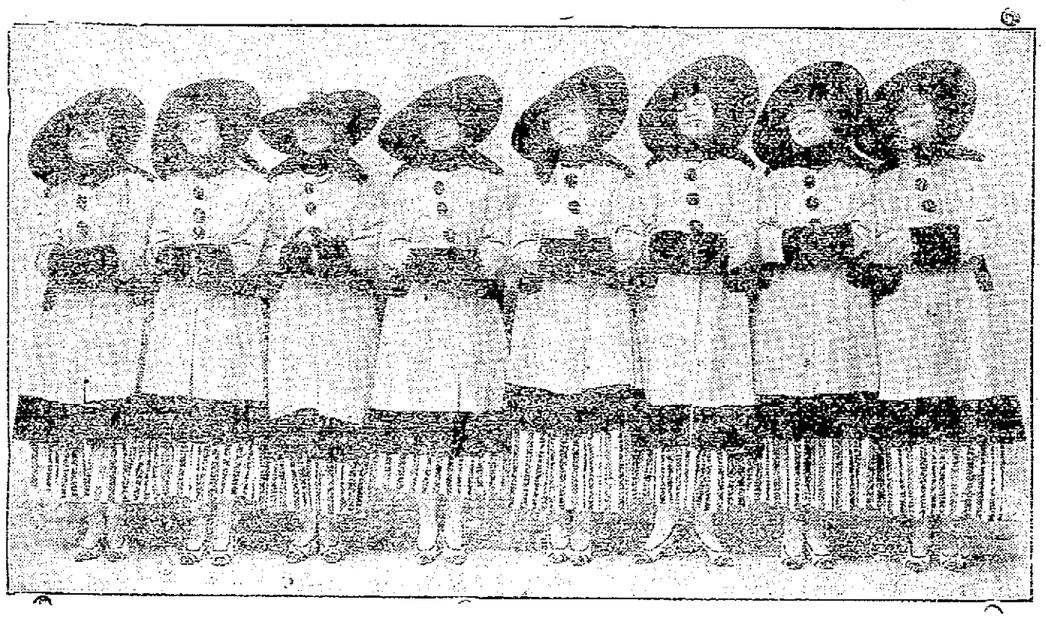

The music is said by all to be of the tuneful kind that sets the audience humming from the rise of the first curtain. Here's what an enthusiastic press agent says about the music:

"The songs are all clean and catchy, the ballads, memory-haunting; the marches aglow with crashing swinging bars that will enfold you in their melodies and chorus and will wher your appetite for more."

The flying eagle is a decided novelty. As usual a ladies matinee will be given, Monday afternoon. Seats are now selling.

"Stop! Look! Listen!"

"Stop! Look! Listen! the attraction announced for next Tuesday at the Auditorium is a show of girls, costumes, scenery and dancing with dialogue that is scintilating and it all moves nimbly to ragtime. The chorus and show girls are ravishingly beautiful—all handsome and fresh young women—splendidly costumed. The costumes are as full of harmonious of line and color as they are of happy fantasy. They are delicate and decorative and could be worn indeed nowhere else and by no other than the Big Girls and Little Girls that carry them off so well. There are hoops and yards of illusive tulle; there is fur; there are summer things for Honolulu and settings that are new and good in idea. Flat in color—the ocean ultramarine—the beaches and the coral islands one-toned sand color—the palms green, delicately filigreed as though their friends were cut from plain paper—they are pleasant and restful to the eye. In fact, it is an attraction that appeals to everybody in some way or other. Spectacularly it should satisfy the most fastidious. There is about the entire spectacle that air of smartness that stamps the big New York successes, and as to the music—well, just imagine Irving Berlin at his best, and then some. Seats now selling.

"Stop! Look! Listen!" Attraction Which Will Hold the Boards at The Auditorium Next Tuesday Evening.

"World of Pleasure."

"How often do we hear the remark by the layman, 'Oh, he's a conceited actor'—and yet this same layman is in part responsible for this same fault in the erring Thespian."

The speaker was George Le Maire, himself a well-known stage favorite and his reply was addressed to a group of commercial travelers who were discussing the actor in the lobby of a hotel. Mr. Le Maire comes here with "A World of Pleasure," to the Auditorium next Wednesday afternoon and evening.

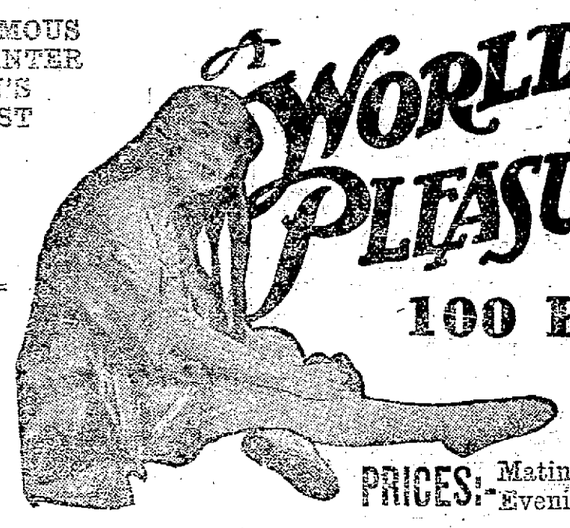

"Men and women who go on the stage in a great many cases do so because they long for the plaudits of their fellow beings. To these players, applause is the manna of existence, and without it they could not exist—naturally it takes but little of the latter essential to turn their heads, as their primary reason for embarking in the profession of action is their vanity. A small success and their poor silly heads have swollen to the size of a hot air balloon on circus day—and they are generally as full of the latter heated atmosphere as the silken bag.

"But take on the other hand the great body of serious minded people of the stage—the men and women who follow the gentle art of Thespis with more ambitious purpose. To them applause means only an expression of the public's appreciation of their humble efforts and its sole effect upon them is to spur them on to greater effort to please.

At the Auditorium, Monday morning, seats will be placed on sale for

To Enlarge Building.
Howell & Thomas, architects, of Columbus have been awarded the contract for the plans for the extension for the Newark Telephone company's main exchange building.

Leases Room.
Herman O'Shaughnessy, proprietor of the Music Hall cafe has leased the Ryder room in West Main stret, formerly occupied by the Shondell restaurant, and will install a first-class cafe with new fixtures, lunch department, etc. He will also have a ticker to give the base ball scores during the approaching season.

Robbed The Nest.
William Weisgarber, the proprietor of the Buckeye Wet Wash laundry, will await in vain the appearance of a number of little chicks which were due to arrive at his home in West Main street next week, for some one broke into his coop last night and stole the eggs, thirty in number, which were being hatched by two motherly old hens. If they were taken in ignorance of the mission for which they were destined, some one will open some eggs and find nearly full grown chicks in them.

REV. MR. BREEZE WORKED HIS WAY THROUGH COLLEGE

One of the most enjoyable of the dinners which are being given by the Men's Brotherhood of the Second Presbyterian church was the one given Friday evening, when Rev. Moses Breeze of Columbus addressed the assemblage.

There was a good attendance and Mr. Breeze, who has won the favor of the Newark church members, gave an excellent address on "The Man of the Hour." He outlined the qualifications which were necessary in the man who is needed in the world today. It has been only a few years since Mr. Breeze, himself came to this country an immigrant. He worked his way through the University of Wisconsin, and today is one of the big men in the Presbyterian church. He is located in Columbus and is in charge of one of the state departments of the church.

AUTO DRIVER FAILS TO STOP AFTER HITTING MAN

D. J. Coughlin, proprietor of a cigar factory in South Second street was taken to the Newark Sanitarium Friday evening suffering from injuries received when he was knocked down by an automobile at the corner of Fifth and Railroad streets.

There were no witnesses of the accident, and passersby found Mr. Coughlin lying unconscious in the street. He was taken to the Sanitarium where it was found that he was badly bruised about the face and head.

When the man was found, there was no trace of the machine or its owner, the drived having failed to stop and he made no effort to ascertain the injuries of the man.

The Courts

Divorce Hearing.
In common pleas court on Friday the court heard the testimony of the witnesses in the divorce and alimony case of Ella McDaniel vs. William A. McDaniel. A number of witnesses have been subpoenaed.

Justice Jones' Court.
G. H. Albrecht, of Clay Lick, charged with having two fish seines in his possession, appeared in Justice D. M. Jones' court and pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and the costs in each charge, which he paid.

A Small Boy's Invention.
Sir Hiram Maxim began to invent almost as soon as he could lisp. When but a small boy he invented a sort of sextant made of wood, with sights, a piece of thread with a bullet at the end and an indicator for the thread to swing along.

On a dark night he took his instrument outside, and while he sighted it to the north star his little sister read the indicator. "Forty-five, Hiram!" she called out. This meant they were living in 45 degrees north latitude. The observation proved to be perfectly accurate.

Wigg—"Guzzler always complains of being driven to drink." Wagg—"Oh, I think Guzzler is more easily led than driven."

ADVISES BILLION CREDIT TO ALLIES

W. P. G. Harding.

In the case of war with Germany congress should immediately pass a law making it possible for this country to extend a billion dollars of credit to the allied governments, W. P. G. Harding, governor of the federal reserve board recently declared. "The extention of credit to those who are fighting with us in a common cause would insure us against a premature peace to which we were not a party," he said.

CINCINNATI TEAMS TO TRY FOR A. B. C. RECORD

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 24.—Milwaukee and Cincinnati tonight will send their strongest teams against the record of 3061, which now promises to win for the Birk Brothers of Chicago, the five man championship of the American Bowling Congress tournament here.

The present tournament will go down in bowling history as the fastest one ever held, world's records being made in every event but the singles and all-events.

ATHLETIC ASSO. OF HIGH SCHOOL GETS $400 BY MINSTREL

The athletic association of the High school was enriched by nearly $400 from the proceeds of the minstrel show staged by the high school students Thursday and Friday nights. About $600 was realized from the sale of seats and after deducting the expenses amounting to about $200, the balance will be turned over to the athletic association. Most of the fund will be used in paying for the expense of remodeling the old church building at Fourth and Church streets which has been used for a gymnasium this winter, all basketball games being staged there. A tentative lease on the building for four years is held by the association while a binding lease for another year assures the boys of a place to play next year anyway. After that time the lease may be terminated after due notice and proper reimbursement for expenses incurred in fitting up the building. The minstrel troupe gave the last performance last night at the High school auditorium. The work showed much improvement over the previous night and the work of the young minstrel men received much praise.

Maholm	0	3	.000

At the beginning of the third week in the basket ball league of the graded schools, the standings are very close and as the schedule is just about half through all indications are that it will be a close race to the end. The first four teams are very evenly matched and all have a chance to win out yet. Friday's games were interesting and were witnessed by over 300 school children. First game East Main won over Conrad, 17 to 14 in a close finish. Rutors work stood out best for winners while McGlade was strongest for Conrad. Line up and summary:

ENDURANCE WAS BOWSER'S ALLY IN YOKEL BOUT

Newark Title Holder Bests Western Man After Losing the First Fall

MATCH BEST SEEN HERE SINCE GAME IS REVIVED

Miss Livingston Wins From Miss Brady In Splendid Exhibition

WRESTLING RESULTS.
Bowser-Yokel: Bowser won, securing second and third falls.
Livingston-Brady: Livingston won, one fall.
Sullivan-Wallace: Wallace won first two falls.
Bowers-Karnes: Karnes won; secured first fall; Bowers quit.
Winters-Teuscher: No decision. Teuscher won one fall.

Newark fans last night saw the best wrestling entertainment ever staged in Newark when Paul Bowser, local title claimant, defeated Mike Yokel of Salt Lake City at the Auditorium. Bowser lost his first fall but won the next two. His wonderful endurance again proved to be his best friend for it was purely by wearing down his opponent that he was able to gain an ultimate victory.

Considered from every standpoint the match excelled anything heretofore offered to Newark wrestling fans. Yokel, regarded as a deliberate painstaking wrestler who works in low gear, surprised the fans by upsetting the dope pot. He showed wonderful speed for a man carrying his excess weight. There was nothing lacking in the way of flashy performance in the big event. Through it all, Yokel showed his science, his superb defense, and his unfailing ability to work from a perilous position into one of extreme advantage. Without detracting from the credit due Bowser for the victory it may be said that the loser last night showed the most science. Bowser was able to win because he was able to go the strenuous pace and still retain his power of resistance and his ability to carry the offense to his opponent.

Throughout the match it was apparent that both men had determined to work carefully and not be caught off guards for a moment. Perhaps no event this season has seen the men on their feet so much. Both seemed better satisfied with the knowledge that he was able to watch every movement of the other. But when they did go to the mat, there was speed, science and endurance displayed in unstinted measure.

Yokel secured the first fall in 24 minutes with the shaft lock. The fall came as a surprise as Bowser had been able up to that time to escape from every trap set by the wily westerner. The early stanza of the match was not featured by sensational work.

Beginning the second fall, both men resumed their wary tactics and remained in chancery for several minutes. The men finally went to the mat and exchanged offensive and defensive efforts for fifteen minutes when Yokel cleverly rolled Bowser into a body scissors with a wristlock and head hold. He proceeded to apply the pressure viciously and not a few in the crowd thought the match was over. Suffering severe punishment, Bowser, however, finally broke the hold and went after Yokel with his old time speed. This effort disconcerted the western man to a great extent. In a very few minutes Bowser got the advantage over his opponent and had a new form of the toe hold combined with a leg hold on the head. He applied the pressure on Yokel's foot without mercy but the latter finally escaped from the clutch and the eighteen minute mark found Yokel free. Bowser fifteen minutes later again went after Yokel's foot and legs which caused the Salt Lake man some apprehension. Soon afterwards, Yokel worked into a position of advantage but unfortunately had Bowser near the edge of the mat and was compelled to break the hold upon the command of the referee. He kicked vigorously as he assumed the offensive again in the center of the mat. Bowser quickly broke Yokel's offensive attack and secured a head and crotch hold which he was unable to use effectively and quickly switched to the shaftlock which secured the fall.

After a ten minute rest the men resumed the strenuous work and despite the fact that both must have been weary, remarkable speed was shown. Soon after this third period started it was plain that Yokel had lost much of his aggressiveness and was devoting most of his brain work in keeping his legs and arms out of Bowser's reach. Twice Bowser secured the head and crotch hold but Yokel escaped. However at the end of 21 1-2 minutes, Bowser secured the hold and elevated Yokel's legs and body, forcing the man's shoulders to the mat and was awarded the fall and the decision.

More than usual was the entertainment offered in the preliminaries. This part of the program, headlined with the exhibition by Cora Livingston and Grace Brady, held the attention of the big crowd from the beginning.

The exhibition by the men of the Bowser wrestling academy, was novel and interesting, with Miss Livingston and Miss Brady showed the result of careful training and while the bout could hardly be termed a contest, it was cleverly staged never-the-less. Both showed wonderful strength, displayed an intimate knowledge of the wrestling game and used it to good avantage. Miss Livingston won the first and only fall in seven minutes.

Vance Wallace had little trouble in disposing of John Sullivan, taking the first fall in 3 1-2 minutes and the second in 2 1-2 minutes. Sullivan is a husky chap and with a little more training on the mat will make a formidable opponent for any man. Both weighed around 145 pounds.

Harry Karnes, 128 1-2 defeated Fred "Brainy" Bowers, 169 pounds, in 3 1-2 minutes. After the first fall Bowers sent word from the dressing room that he quit as he had had enough.

The opening number was the bout between Clare Winters, 81 pounds, and Kenneth Teuscher, 76 pounds. Teuscher won the first fall in two minutes. The boys returned and went three minutes without a fall, no decision being given.

In a talk after the main event, Bowser thanked his friends here for their loyal support in his two seasons of wrestling and sent his compliments to the knockers, who, he declared aided considerably in making the two seasons a success financially. He announced that last night's progrram might be the last this season, though it was possible that he would arrange another match to close the season soon after Easter. This will be determined later.

FRED LAZARUS PROMINENT COLUMBUS MERCHANT IS DEAD; HEART TROUBLE

Columbus, March 24. — Fred Lazarus, sr., head of the F. & R. Lazarus & Co., and for many years one of Columbus' best known men, died shortly after 6 o'clock last night at his residence, 1080 Bryden Road. He had been in failing health four months, but the end came rather suddenly. It was due to myocarditis.

Mr. Lazarus was a living example of what studious application and indomitable perseverance can do in the world of affairs. He and his late brother, Ralph, developed the establishment, founded by their father, Simon Lazarus, from a little store at High and Town streets to a great department store, enjoying a widespread repute in Columbus and Ohio.

Mr. Lazarus, when a child of 1 year, was brought to this country from Germany by his parents. He was born May, 5, 1850. The little store was opened as soon as the elder Lazarus came to Columbus.

Besides, his sons, he is survived by his widow (Rose Eichberg) and four sisters, Mrs. Matilda Stern, Mrs. Bertha Stern and Mrs. Rose Gillette, New York, and Mrs. Rosalie Cohen, Washington, D. C.

Amusements

the engagement of "A World of Pleasure." The play comes here directly from successful engagements in New York and Chicago, and all the larger cities of the country, with its celebrated metropolitan cast and production intact. The book and lyrics of the new extravaganza are by Harold Atteridge, the music by Sigmund Romberg, and the dances were put on by Jack Mason, and Theodore Kosloff has arranged the ballet. Two score of tuneful musical numbers of the jingly, whistling type, are one of the delightful features of this big attraction. The cast of principals includes in its roster the names of players long and favorably known for their entertaining powers. There is a chorus of pretty girls, requisitioned from the beauty marts of Broadway's handsomest peach crop, and in addition to pleasing the eye with their loveliness, they are able to sing and dance in a manner that make them stand out prominently as a big feature of this great Winter Garden attraction.

"Ikey and Abey."
The success of any farce comedy depends necessarily to a great extent on the singing ability of the rank and file of the company. Unquestionably George H. Bubb, produced of "The Lion and the Mouse" and "A Royal Slave," also sponsor of "Ikey and Abey," has come out at the top of the hoop during the wild scramble among managers and producers for farce comedy people. The present line up engaged for this notable production was recruited from the biggest and best of last season's comedy successes, by guaranteeing a long season and paying salaries that most producers would refuse.

This will be one of the season's popular hits at the Auditorium for next Thursday night. Popular prices will prevail and no doubt capacity business will rule, for it seems Newark prefers the cheaper shows to the higher priced attractions.

"Fair and Warmer."
Selwyn & Company will bring their sensational farce success, "Fair and Warmer," for a return engagement here soon, with an ideal cast of farceurs, and a beautiful production, so that theatregoers outside of New York shall see Avery Hopwood's farce classic under circumstances as favorable as those which made it famous.

LYRIC.
Monday.
The Coshocton Morning Tribune says: How very refreshing it is to find a company of players who can put a show over with a "bang" and have the people aplauding and laughing, with a zest that has not been applied here for years, without resorting to the time-worn "slap-stick" "knock-down-and-drag-out" variety of comedy or one line of "smut."

The day has long past since coarseness, suggestiveness or vulgarity proved "box-office attractions," but so few of the musical "tab" companies playing in this country have had sense enough to realize it.

We are delighted to report that the Jack Hutchison Musical Comedy company is so far above the average that they should not be classed as a "tab" show, for they are as refined a lot of real performers, both on and off the stage, as ever came to Coshocton.

ALHAMBRA.
Monday and Tuesday.
A good old fashioned tarring and feathering was one of the many thrilling incidents in the Lasky-Paramount production "Those Without Sin" which will be the attraction at the Alhambra on Monday and Tuesday with the beautiful Blanche Sweet in the stellar role. Guy Oliver as a northern officer insults a southern girl and the hot-headed young southern men promptly capture, tar and feather him. As can be seen in the close-ups in the picture, there is no doubt as to the sincerity with which the young men at the studio who played the hot-headed young southern gentry administered the punishment to the offender.

Sunday.
As a book, as a stage production and now as a screen drama, "Camille" brings entertainment to millions. Taken from the famous book by Alexandra Dumas, the motion picture presentation is thoroughly satisfying in every detail. Miss Clara Kimball Young enacts the title role and is assisted by a superb company. This splendid offering will be the attraction at the Alhambra theatre Sunday. It is the latest release by the Clara Kimball Young Service-World Pictures.

GEM.
Monday.
Winnifred Greenwood and Franklin Ritchie never appeared to better advantage than they do in Julian La Mothe's powerful love-drama, "The Inner Struggle," in which they are called upon to interpret the strong emotional roles of Mira Hamilton and Dr. Stephen Grant. Deeply in love with Mira the young doctor is the victim of a handsome young spendthrift, Harry Elliot, who succeeds in discrediting him in the eyes of his sweetheart and marrying her himself.

At the Gem Monday.

It Was a Great Disappointment to Us

Not to be able to show our most exclusive garments on living figures last night—but on account of the very bad weather it was decided to postpone these events until

Monday Evening at 7:30

At which time we hope to have pleasant weather and make this complete showing Monday evening at 7:30 p. m.

This is The Saturday Night of "Dress-Up Week"

Everybody in the city will be strolling around the square tonight looking at the beautiful windows, which all display the choicest importations of new merchandise for spring.

We Invite You to See Our Displays

First in our windows—each window shows one of the new spring ideas, either for personal adornment or for dressing up the home.

Then come in the store and spend a while strolling around. Every department is showing the newest and finest importations for spring and you will have the pleasure of seeing these unusually attractive displays if you come in tonight.

Opening of Dress-Up Week Is Delayed Until Monday by Rain Which Broke Up the Plans

The opening of "dress-up" week arranged for last night, was postponed by the unusually heavy rain and electrical storm which started in the morning and lasted most of the day with increasing intensity. The program planned was impossible of execution because of the storm.

At a meeting of the committee in charge of the arrangements, held this morning in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, the entire program was advanced to Monday, with some minor changes and additions. The B. & O. siren will sound the signal which marks the opening of this annual spring festivity at 7 o'clock, instead of 7:30 o'clock. At the same time the new "welcome" sign on the Trust building will flash its message of good will to the people far and near. The "bombing" squad will touch off the red fire bombs on the square, the Buckeye Band will peal forth strains of patriotic and martial music and the big week will be on.

It's advent will be heralded during the afternoon by buglers and drummers in a large touring car which will traverse the business and residential section of the city, bearing "Miss Spring" and "Miss Newark" two young women appropriately attired to extend a welcome to all the populace to take part in the festivities.

Monday the committee plans also to send forth a car through the western part of the county advertising the big event. Tuesday the same program will be repeated in the southern part of the county. This advertising car will be a big 1917 Buick from the Spellman garage.

In spite of the fact that the storm interfered with the program last night, the windows were unveiled at the appointed hour though there was no ceremony attending it. A lull in the storm came about between 8 and 9 o'clock and there were hundreds of people on the street taking in the sights.

Hundreds assembled in the A. Schiff store where the annual style show was held. The room was arranged with white enameled trellis with flowering vines, and the American flags added to the beauty. As the strains of the national airs were played, little Miss Mary Gertrude Sachs wearing a white lingerie frock with huge red malme sash, and carrying a silk U. S. flag stepped on the stage opening the show of '17.

The models then showed the beautiful things which will be worn by women this spring. The new sport suits of Khaki Kool, with their quaint little coats of velvet and satin, the new jersey sport suits, charming afternoon frocks in silks and georgette crepes, beautiful coats in the new burella cloth, with many charming wool suits, all these were shown by the models, Mrs. Margaret Brown, Mrs. Charles Peeples, Miss Lucille Cully and Miss Blanch Trost.

Seats had been arranged for the customers and each showing was made with the accessories which complete the costume. The shoes worn were those of Linehan Brothers and Rosenbachs, the hats were from the Giffen shop and he hair of the models was arranged by Mrs. T. S. Wolfe.

The style show of the W. H. Mazey company will be held on Monday evening from 7:30 to 9 o'clock in the north window, where five models, young women employes of the store wil lshow the new styles.

The many display windows about the city, are of unusual beauty, they have been arranged with an artistic value of coloring and arrangement, rather than that of advertising, and the effect is most attractive.

COLORED WOMEN HELD FOR ROBBERY; MAN IS VICTIM

Leona Heaton and Stella Burke, colored, both claiming Columbus as their home, came to this city last evening on the interurban line, evidently with the intention of replenishing their exchequer. Leona weighed in at about 250 pounds while Stella was in the welter weight class. They both left the car at Pine street and started out for an adventure, meeting Homer Slocum shortly after. They accosted him and Leona suddenly gave a demonstration of the arm lock and a scissor hold with her pedal extremities.

Mr. Slocum wiggled out of the hold when Leona exclaimed, "Lord honey, I thought it was my Charlie." As the young man started away before the Amizonian sport from the Capital City could make a second attack he thought he heard a jingle, like a coin dropping on the sidewalk. He felt for his pocketbook and found it missing and he then realized that he had been made the victim of a colored "dip."

Officer Shively was found on his beat in the West End and he and Mr. Slocum repaired to the scene of the attack and there they found the pocketbook minus seven crisp samoleons which it had contained just a short time before and lying close by was the nickel, which had sounded the warning as it dropped upon the sidewalk. The women were soon taken into tow by Officer Shively and this morning Leona was bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $300, which she said her Charlie would soon furnish. Stella was ordered out of town and she made a bee line for the interurban station remarking as she left, "I never did like dis old town nohow."

CALLED FOR EXTRA DUTY, HARTMAN IS KILLED BY ENGINE

Emmet Lee Hartman, who was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio passenger train in front of the baggage room shortly after the noon hour yesterday and who was badly bruised and mangled, died at about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, never having regained consciousness after having been given the anesthetic.

Mr. Hartman was a stationary fireman and had been in the employ of the Ohio Light & Power company, having worked all of Thursday night and was called at noon for extra duty. He started for the light plant on his bicycle and when he came to the crossing did not notice the approach of the train from the north, although warnings were shouted by several bystanders. He was knocked from the wheel and his left leg and left arm were run over by the engine. He was rushed to the Newark Sanitarium where an examination disclosed a cut in the back of the head, cut over left eye, ribs on right side crushed, right hip badly bruised, left arm shattered and left leg so badly mangled that it was necessary to amputate it just below the hip. The injured man could not survive the shock and died at the above hour.

Emmet Lee Hartman was aged 30 years, 6 months and 13 days. He resided at 185 Clinton street and is survived by his wife and a three year old daughter. His mother, Mrs. Diana Hartman also resided with him. He also leaves a brother, Norris Hartman, of 27 Morris street and a half-brother, W. B. Parr of Thornport, O. The funeral will take place Monday at 10:30 a. m. at the East Main Street U. B. church. Interment at Cedar Hill.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them, 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.
